UNITED STATES ACCEPTS GERMAN ABANDONMENT OF FORMER SUBMARINE POLICY

Note Cabled to Gerard Informs Berlin Government, However, That Questions Regarding British Actions Will Not Even Be Discussed. Way Now Seems Clear for Settling Lusitania Negotiations.

By the Associated Press.

Washington, May 8.—A note cabled by Secretary Lansing to Ambassador Gerard today for delivery to the Berlin foreign office informs the German government that the United States accepts its "declaration of abandonment" of its former submarine policy and now relies upon a scrupulous execution of the altered policy to remove the principal danger of interruption of good relations existing between the two countries.

With this acceptance is coupled the formal notice to Germany that the United States cannot for a moment entertain, much less discuss, a suggestion that respect by German naval authorities of the rights of citizens of the United States on the high seas should in the slightest degree be made contingent upon the conduct of any other government affecting the rights of neutrals and non-combatants. This is in reply to the concluding statement in the last German note to the effect that while submarine commanders have been ordered to sink no passenger or freight carrying ships without warning or without safety for passengers and crew the German government would reserve to itself complete liberty of decisions unless the United States was successful in its efforts to break the British blockade.

Secretary Lansing issued a statement tonight saying that the greater part of Germany's answer to the demand of the United States was devoted to matters which the American government could not discuss with Berlin but he considered Germany had "yielded to our representation" and that we "can have no reason to quarrel with her" so long as the policy is lived up to.

TEXT OF REPLY TO GERMAN NOTE.

Following is the text of the note cabled today by Secretary Lansing to Ambassador Gerard at Berlin with instructions to deliver it to the German minister of foreign affairs:

"The note of the imperial German government under date of May 4, 1916, has received careful consideration by the government of the United States. It is especially noted as indicating the purpose of the imperial government as to the future that it is prepared to do its utmost to confine the operation of the war to the rest of its duration to the fighting forces of the belligerents and that it is determined to impose upon all its commanders at sea the limitations of the recognized rules of international law upon which the United States government has insisted.

"Throughout the months which have elapsed since the imperial government announced on February 4, 1915, its altered policy, now happily abandoned, the government of the United States has been constantly guided and restrained by motives of friendship in its patient efforts to bring to an amicable settlement the critical questions arising from that policy. Accepting the imperial government's declaration of its abandonment of the policy which has so seriously menaced the good relations between the two countries, the government of the United States will rely upon a scrupulous explanation

White Star Liner Cymric Torpedoed by Submarine; No Passengers on Board

By the Associated Press.

London, May 8.—The 15,000 ton White Star liner Cymric, which for some time has been engaged in government service, has been torpedoed by a "German submarine," according to advices received here. One report says that the Cymric was attacked in the Atlantic and the information of the White Star company at Liverpool is that the steamer was torpedoed about noon today.

The Cymric left New York April 29 with an enormous cargo of war munitions. As she usually made the voyage from New York to Liverpool in ten days, she was therefore within a day or two of her destination. It is considered probable in the absence of definite details that the disaster to the Cymric occurred off the west coast of Ireland, but whether on the northern or southern route cannot be stated.

The fate of the steamship is not yet known, although an early message received in London reported that the Cymric was sinking. The crew aboard were henceforth of the now altered policy of the imperial government such as will remove the penal danger to an interruption of the good relations existing between the United States and Germany.

"The government of the United States feel it necessary to state that it takes it for granted that the imperial government of Germany does not intend to imply that the maintenance of its newly announced policy is in any way contingent upon the course of or result of diplomatic relations between the government of the United States and other governments, notwithstanding the fact that certain passages in the imperial government's of the fourth instant might appear to be susceptible of the construction. In order, however, to avoid any possible misunderstanding, the government of the United States notifies the imperial government that it cannot for a moment entertain, much less discuss, a suggestion in that respect by German naval authorities of the rights of citizens of the United States upon the high seas in any way or in the slightest degree be made contingent upon the conduct of any other government affecting the rights of neutrals and non-combatants. Responsibility in such matters is single, not joint, absolute not relative.

NO REASON TO QUARREL SINCE GERMANY GIVES IN.

Mr. Lansing's statement made public after the note was on its way to Berlin, follows:

"The greater part of the German answer is devoted to matters which the American government cannot discuss with Berlin but he considered Germany had 'yielded to our representation' and that we 'can have no reason to quarrel with her' so long as the policy is lived up to.

"The essence of the answer is that Germany yields to our representations with regard to the rights of merchant ships and non-combatants on the high seas and engages to observe the recognized rules of international law governing naval warfare in using her submarines against merchant ships. So long as she lives up to this altered policy we can have no reason to quarrel with her on that score, though the losses resulting from the violation of American rights by German submarine commanders operating at sea will have to be settled.

"While our difference with England cannot form a subject of discussion with Germany, it should be stated that in our dealings with the British government, we are acting as we are entitled to assume mutually similar obligations with Germany, but the offer was declined. When, however, the subject in dispute is a continued menace to American lives it is doubtful whether such obligations apply unless the menace is removed during the progress of the proceedings."

The hope that the note might end the discussion regarding the conduct of submarine warfare tonight was entertained by some officials and by persons in close touch with affairs at the German embassy. Should this prove true, no more ships carrying American citizens being sunk in violation of the principles of international law, the way would be clear for negotiations settling the Lusitania case.

bered about a hundred men but the steamer carried no passengers.

No Americans Aboard.
New York, May 8.—No word has been received at the offices of the White Star line concerning the steamer Cymric which cable dispatches from London reported to be sinking, when the offices closed for the night at 6:30 o'clock.

The Cymric left New York April 29, with a cargo of munitions and supplies, including 800 cases of cartridges.

Capt. F. E. Beadell was in charge and had a crew of more than a hundred men. J. J. MacPherson, British vice consul in charge of shipping, said that as far as he knew there were no American citizens on board the Cymric.

MacPherson added:

In addition to the crew I have distressed British seamen who had been in here were on the steamer.

Mexico City, May 8.—General Carranza and his official advisers were in conference during all of Sunday night and until 3 o'clock Monday morning, discussing the campaign against the border raids which it is believed have been inaugurated to be prosecuted systematically by the enemies of Carranza government now residing in the United States. Telegrams to the foreign office today said that the plots of the conspirators have become known to the Carranza government and agents of the Mexican government and that the names of all the leaders have been obtained.

According to these messages San Antonio, Texas, is being used as the headquarters for the movement and the Carranza government are directing it. The avowed intention of these men, it is declared, is to cause serious differences between Mexico and the United States. The newspapers this morning published on their front page a history of recent border raids and characterize the participants in them as enemies of both nations. The hope is expressed editorially that the American people will see through the schemes and that public opinion will not condemn Mexico wrongly.

Murder of Robinson Woman Breaks McLennan Records for Fiendish Brutality

Almost brained and criminally assaulted, the cold, lifeless body of Mrs. George Fryer, aged 53, was found by her daughter in the seed house at the home near Robinson late yesterday afternoon after the tragedy had been enacted probably about 1 p. m. With the father working on the far side of the field and the two children away from the house, Mrs. Fryer was last seen alive by members of the family as they left after the noon hour, and her body with clothing disheveled and head beaten almost to a pulp, was found as the children came in for supper.

A negro youth, Jess Washington, a hired hand, who was planting cotton near the house is being held by the officers, and desiring to thwart any possible trouble from the incident, the negro was taken away from the county jail at an early hour this morning. The suspected negro is only 17 years old, while a younger brother, William Washington, who was also working near the house, is also in jail.

SKULL SHATTERED IN SEVERAL PLACES.

The victim was probably knocked senseless with the first blow, but the assailant plied some instrument such as a hammer or monkey wrench until the skull was shattered in several places. Her body was found prostrate, and her gloves which she usually wore while working in the garden indicated that she had probably laid down her hoe to come and unlash the seed house for a supply to plant. Officers think that she was bending down shoveling handfuls of seed in a sack when the assailant knocked her unconscious.

Justice Giles P. Lester, who viewed the body shortly before midnight, as well as officers working on the case, think that Mrs. Fryer had been dead for several hours when found.

FEELING HIGH AMONG NEIGHBORS.

Within five minutes after they had gotten to the scene of the tragedy, Deputies Lee Jenkins and Barney Goldberg of the sheriff's department were speeding back to Waco with two negroes, one of whom they were practically convinced from an unbroken net of circumstantial evidence, was the assailant. Constable Leslie Stegall, Deputy Constable Phil Hobbs, Sheriff S. S. Fleming and practically a full corps of local peace officers followed in autos. Feeling was very high in the Robinson community and the officers made every effort to placate any serious trouble.

It was agreed among the officers last night that the cold blooded murder and the brutality of the assault was without a parallel in this county. The family is a highly respected one in the Robinson farming community and the shock of the tragedy sent a tremor of mingled horror and of touching sympathy for the family throughout the county.

The grief and shock of the daughter in discovering her mother was declared to be frantic.

The body was taken in charge by F. M. Compton and will be prepared for burial probably tomorrow. Arrangements for the funeral, however, had not been made at an early hour this morning.

Surviving are the husband, a son and a daughter.

Officers were working throughout the night in connecting their complete chain of evidence.

NATION'S TRADITION NOT HELPLESSNESS SAYS PRESIDENT

By the Associated Press.

Washington, May 8.—Hope that at the end of the present war the nations of the world would undertake a joint effort to keep the peace, backed by a common police force, was expressed by a committee of the American Union Against Militarism which called to protest against his preparedness program and advice to the nation to build up a military machine in the country west of the Alleghenies.

The president told his callers that a healthy nation would not build up a military machine to establish the foundations for peace. He said there was a difference between preparedness and militarism that the country was in danger of the latter, and in response to a question declared that compulsory military training was not contrary to American tradition.

The president insisted that on account of his office the president most frequently addressed audiences from the upper classes and that the response to his military were misleading him as to the true sentiment of the country.

The president told the committee that while America's traditions were anti-militarism they were not those of military helplessness; that the existing United States army was a large one and that it had been found necessary to prepare the navy to deal with tremendous tasks quite independently of the army.

The committee was headed by Miss Lillian D. Wald, Rabbi Stephen S. Wise and Amos E. Pinchot, all of New York City. A. Berle Cambridge and John A. MacSpartan, legislative chairman of the National Grange, who presented a memorial setting forth that while the union did not stand against any reasonable preparedness nor for peace at any price, it was convinced that the big army and navy programs were a menace to democracy.

WINTER WHEAT CROP ESTIMATED AT HALF BILLION BUSHEL

By the Associated Press.

Washington, May 8.—Almost a half billion bushel is the winter wheat forecast for this year by the department of agriculture in its May crop report. This is 155,000,000 bushels less than harvested last year, when a world's record crop was gathered in the United States, but this year is growing on a much smaller acreage and the severe winter caused a heavy bombardment of the acreage planted last fall. In all 1,256,000 acres were abandoned, leaving for harvest 32,030,000 acres, which is 7,435,000 acres less than harvested last year.

"The heaviest abandonment occurred," the department reported, "in the important group of winter wheat states extending from Ohio through Indiana to Illinois where it reached its maximum intensity and through Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa and Missouri. This abandonment was due principally to late seeding on wet and poorly prepared seed beds followed by a winter of unusual vigor."

"The activity of the green bug, the hard winter in Texas, with a severe winter drought, caused an abandonment of 35 per cent of the southern acreage in that state. Montana, Washington and California also show an abandonment of 20 to 25 per cent."

"Present conditions of growth are poorest in the central group states, where winter killing was most severe. In the Atlantic coast crop is generally fair to good."

"The Hessian fly, reported as active in many sections last fall, is seemingly

AMERICAN CAVALRY STARTS IN PURSUIT OF BANDIT RAIDERS

By the Associated Press.

Marathon, May 8.—Two troops of American cavalry swung southward this afternoon into the Big Bend country, moving on to Glenn Springs where three soldiers lost their lives and a little boy was shot to death in the raid by Villista bandits Friday night. The one hundred odd cavalrymen belong to Troops A and B of the Eighth cavalry, under command of Major Lank-horne. Two troops of the Fourteenth cavalry, commanded by Col. R. W. Sibley from Fort Clark, go forward tomorrow.

A strict censorship is enforced to screen the troop movements in the field campaign in whatever form it takes, either in the pursuit of the Villista brigades or in the protection of the border from further attacks.

Capt. Casper Cole with twenty-three men of Troop A is now scouting in the river country where the bandits crossed the Rio Grande in their flight after the attacks on Glenn Springs and Boquilla. His observations and reports of the bandits' movements are being sent to Major General Funston that a plan of future action may be formulated.

Many unconfirmed reports are current tonight at Boquilla that bodies of bandits are operating near there on the Mexican side. The number of cavalry under present orders to proceed toward the river indicates that possible flight will be made to pursue the bandits into Mexico unless they are observed near the border. In that event a chase into Mexican territory may be attempted that may carry the American forces fifty or more miles into Coahuila.

Lack of transportation and properly defended lines of communication preclude any extended pursuit into Mexico, and military men here do not think another punitive expedition possible because of the lack of cavalrymen. The last body of Villistas recrossed the Rio Grande Saturday morning and by now they are nearly forty miles south of the river.

Texas Cattlemen Refuse Overtures from Packers

By the Associated Press.

Fort Worth, May 8.—Texas cattle raisers today refused overtures of executives of four packing industries looking toward an amicable settlement of differences arising from marketing conditions, a committee appointed at the Houston convention reporting unfavorably toward propositions to establish a working agreement with the packers.

The packers present at the conference were: T. E. Wilson, president Schwarzhild and Sulzberger Packing company, Chicago; L. F. Swift, president Swift and company, Chicago; Edward Morris, president Morris and company, Chicago; Arthur Meeker, vice president Armour and company, Chicago; R. C. McManus, attorney for Swift and company, Chicago; Wellington Leavitt, head cattle buyer Swift and company, Chicago; A. D. White, advertising manager Swift and company, Chicago.

It was recommended that the Texans support the marketing committee of the National Livestock association.

Injured Officers Will Recover

FULLER CO OPERATES IN BORDER SITUATION DEMANDS OF MEXICANS

WASHINGTON HOPES BORDER SITUATION AGREEMENT WILL BE REACHED SOON

CALLING OUT NATIONAL GUARD NOT BEING CONSIDERED YET. BORAH ASKS MORE TROOPS—DE FACTO GOVERNMENT NOTIFIED OF RAIDS.

By the Associated Press.

Washington, May 8.—Administration officials are hopeful that effective cooperation between American and Mexican troops to exterminate the band of Mexican outlaws which raided Glenn Springs last Friday night will mark the conclusion of the conference at El Paso between Generals Scott and Obregon. In the meantime both at the war and state departments it was stated officially that General Funston has full authority to send his troops across the border on any hot trail.

Officials would not comment on border advice. The question of calling out a portion of the national guard is not under immediate consideration as the only other means of adding materially to the border guard would be to employ coast artillery troops.

Senator Borah issued a statement tonight urging that additional troops be ordered to the border and any man or party in Mexico which sought to embarrass the task of protecting American interests be treated as enemies of the country.

SAYS CARRANZA CANNOT GUARD BORDER.

"It must be apparent to anyone familiar with the situation," said the senator, "that Carranza cannot restore order in Mexico; he cannot establish a government and what concerns most, he cannot protect the border."

It was stated today that the agreement suggested by General Carranza in the first exchange of notes for a reciprocal right to cross the border on any recurrence of the Columbia raid, still was assumed to be in force. Only the status of the present expedition is involved. The right to pursue outlaws who engaged in raid was clearly stated in the original proposal from Carranza and if Funston's men go across in pursuing the Glenn Springs raiders, they will be covered by that agreement regardless of the status of General Pershing's expedition.

Secretary Lansing declined to say what steps were being taken to investigate the status of the Carranza agreement for the Columbus or Glenn Springs raids had come from the American side of the border. To make any announcement, he said, merely would serve to block the investigations.

The Washington government was still without official notification toward night as to Carranza's attitude toward the Scott-Obregon plan. It was assumed from the fact that Carranza had not answered the two officers was held today, however, that he had accepted the proposals. A report from General Scott was expected at the conclusion of the conference although definitely in time to make it impossible that the text of the agreement, if ratified, could be made public before tomorrow morning.

NOTIFY CARRANZA OF GLENN SPRINGS RAID.

Secretary Lansing forwarded representative to Carranza through Special Agent Rodgers at Mexico City last night when news of the Glenn Springs raid was confirmed. The de facto government was notified of the raid and it was intimated that Mr. Rodgers was instructed to inform Mexican officials that the United States assumed they would take prompt steps to capture and punish the bandits.

Tyree and Compton Turn Up and Tell Story of Attack

By the Associated Press.

Marathon, Tex., May 8.—Private Roscoe Tyree and O. G. Compton arrived late this afternoon in company with Sergeant Smyth. They were brought here on a motor car from Glenn Springs. Anxiety had been felt for these two men, as Tyree disappeared after the fight between the bandits and the patrol at Glenn Springs and Compton had been reported taken into Mexico by the Marauders. The two men were reported kidnapped with John Deemers from below Boquilla was named Coy.

Sergeant Smyth was in command of the patrol at Glenn Springs which was attacked by Mexican bandits Friday. Private Roscoe Tyree, the missing soldier, was thought to have been captured by the Mexicans, was in agony when brought to Marathon tonight. His right arm and foot were badly injured and the patrol at Glenn Springs and Compton had been reported taken into Mexico by the Marauders. The two men were reported kidnapped with John Deemers from below Boquilla was named Coy.

Oscar G. Compton, also reported safe tonight, reached here in an automobile from Glenn Springs. Compton's little boy, Garnett, was ridden with bullets in the raid. Compton told how the Mexicans surrounded the settlement with the apparent object of killing all the soldiers and then sacking the place at their leisure.

"I heard the sound of many feet on the rocks," said Compton, whose home was but a short distance from the soldiers' encampment, "and then two Mexicans with handkerchiefs tied across their faces stuck their heads in the front door and asked if any soldiers were there. I answered them and looked out and saw Mexicans coming in all directions, yelling as loudly as they could.

By the Associated Press.

El Paso, Tex., May 8.—Today's conference between Generals Scott and Obregon and General Funston, Mexican minister of war, and Juan Amador, sub-secretary of foreign affairs, ended late today without an agreement having been reached. It was indicated today, however, that efforts to reach an understanding regarding the status of the American troops in Mexico had not been abandoned and that another conference would be held.

The meeting took place in General Scott's private car on the American side. When or where the next meeting will be held was not disclosed.

When General Obregon returned to Juarez in his touring car he was asked:

"Is the conference ended?"

He smiled, shrugged his shoulders, and replied:

"It is not beginning."

A. J. McQuatters, president of the Alvarado Mining and Smelting company, was again present at the meeting of the American and Mexican representatives. Neither he nor any of the others would discuss what had taken place.

In El Paso tonight the feeling grew that the situation had taken on added gravity following the report of a bandit raid in the Big Bend district.

UNITED STATES MAKES MORE DEMANDS.

New demands were presented to the Mexican representative it was said, which include the re-cooperation of the Mexican and American troops in districts not hitherto touched in the negotiations.

Whatever the reply of the Mexican minister of war, it is evident that he wished to gain more time. The conference began at 4:55 p. m. and ended in just an hour and fifteen minutes. Tonight more telegraphic conversations between General Obregon and Carranza at the capital took place.

Much interest was taken tonight in word reaching here from Marathon regarding a story told by a minister, name unknown, who reached there after an automobile tour through the district raided last Friday night.

ONE OF BANDITS A CARRANZA MAN.

According to the story told by this man the body of one of the bandits was found near Glenn Springs and on it were papers which identified him as a Carranza follower.

No further report came from the raided district in the Big Bend county. The news of the day was the arrival of two troops of cavalry from Fort Clark to Glenn Springs at Marathon, where they started southward on a 55-mile march.

General Funston refused to indicate whether a second expeditionary force is to go into Mexico next week. He said circumstances made it impossible for him to speculate.

Considerable significance was placed in his reply to a question asked him. He was asked if a report from Wash. intimated that troops may already have crossed was true. He replied that he believed they had "not yet" gone over.

This afternoon's conference came at the end of a day of rumors and speculations which reached their apex in

UNITED STATES GERMAN ABANDONMENT OF FORMER SUBMARINE POLICY

Note Cabled to Gerard Informs Berlin Government, However, That Questions Regarding British Actions Will Not Even Be Discussed. Way Now Seems Clear for Settling Lusitania Negotiations.

By the Associated Press.

Washington, May 8.—A note cabled by Secretary Lansing to Ambassador Gerard today for delivery to the Berlin foreign office informs the German government that the United States accepts its "declaration of abandonment" of its former submarine policy and now relies upon a scrupulous execution of the altered policy to remove the principal danger of interruption of good relations existing between the two countries.

With this acceptance is coupled the formal notice to Germany that the United States cannot for a moment entertain much less discuss, a suggestion that while submarine commanders of the rights of citizens of the United States on the high seas should in the slightest degree be made contingent upon the conduct of any other government affecting the rights of neutrals and non-combatants. This is in reply to the concluding statement in the last German note to the effect that while submarine commanders have been ordered to sink no peaceful freight or passenger carrying ships without warning or without safety for passengers and crew the German government would reserve to itself complete liberty of decisions unless the United States was successful in its efforts to break the British blockade.

Secretary Lansing issued a statement tonight saying that the greater part of Germany's answer to the demand of the United States was devoted to matters which the American government could not discuss with Berlin but he considered Germany had "yielded to our representation" and that we "can have no reason to quarrel with her" so long as the policy is lived up to.

TEXT OF REPLY TO GERMAN NOTE.

Following is the text of the note cabled today by Secretary Lansing to Ambassador Gerard at Berlin with instructions to deliver it to the German minister of foreign affairs:

"The note of the imperial German government under date of May 4, 1916, has received careful consideration by the government of the United States. It is especially noted as indicating the purpose of the imperial government as to the future that it is prepared to do its utmost to confine the operations of the war for the rest of its duration to the fighting forces of the belligerents and that it is determined to impose upon all its commanders the limitations of the recognized rules of international law upon which the United States government has insisted.

"Throughout the months which have elapsed since the imperial government announced on February 4, 1915, its submarine policy, now happily abandoned, the government of the United States has been constantly guided by the limitations of the policy which has so seriously menaced the good relations between the two countries, the government of the United States will rely upon a scrupulous explanation

By the Associated Press.

London, May 8.—The 15,000 ton White Star liner Cymric, which for sometime has been engaged in government service, has been torpedoed by a "German submarine," according to advice received here. One report says that the Cymric was attacked in the Atlantic and the information of the White Star company at Liverpool is that the steamer was torpedoed about noon today.

The Cymric left New York April 29 with an enormous cargo of war munitions. As she usually made the voyage from New York to Liverpool in ten days she was therefore with a day or two of her destination. It is considered probable in the absence of details that the disaster to the Cymric occurred off the west coast of Ireland, but whether on the northern or southern route cannot be stated.

The fate of the steamship is not yet known, although an early message received in London today said that the Cymric was sinking. The crew aboard rum-

New York, May 8.—No word has been received at the offices of the White Star line here concerning the steamer Cymric which cable dispatches from London reported to be sinking, when the offices closed for the night at 6:30 o'clock.

In addition to the crew it is believed that there were no Americans among the crew. The Cymric, it is said, arrived here with a crew of 110 men, twelve deserted and eight were taken on. None of those taken on were American citizens, Mr. MacPherson added.

Murder of Robinson Woman Breaks McLennan Records for Fiendish Brutality

Almost brained and criminally assaulted, the cold, lifeless body of Mrs. George Fryer, aged 53, was found by her daughter in the seat house at the home near Robinson late yesterday afternoon after the tragedy had been enacted probably about 1 p. m. With the father working on the far side of the field and the two children away from the house, Mrs. Fryer was last seen alive by members of the family as they left after the noon hour, and her body with clothing disheveled and head beaten about the face and neck, was found as the children came in for supper.

A negro youth, Jess Washington, a hired hand, who was planting cotton near the house, being held by the officers, and desiring to thwart any possible trouble from the incensed neighborhood, the negro was spirited away from the county jail at an early hour this morning. The suspected negro is only 17 years old, while a younger brother, William Washington, who was also working near the house, is also in jail.

SKULL SHATTERED IN SEVERAL PLACES.

The victim was probably knocked senseless with the first blow, but the assailant plied some instrument until the skull was shattered in several places. Her body was found prostrate, and her gloves which she usually wore while working, were usually laid down her head to come and unclasp the seed house for a supply to plant. Officers think that she was bending down hoeing when the assailant knocked her unconscious.

Justice Giles P. Lester, who viewed

the body shortly before midnight, as well as officers working on the case, think that Mrs. Fryer had been dead for several hours when found.

FEELING HIGH AMONG NEIGHBORS.

Within five minutes after they had gotten to the scene of the tragedy, Deputy Lee Jenkins and Barney Goldberg of the sheriff's department were speeding back to Waco with two negroes, one of whom they were practically convinced from an unbroken not of circumstantial evidence, was the assailant. Constable Leslie Stegall, Deputy Constable Phil Hobbs, Sheriff S. S. Fleming and practically a full corps of local peace officers followed in auto. Feeling was very high in the Robinson community and the officers made every effort to placate any serious trouble.

It was agreed among the officers for burial probably tomorrow. The brutality of the assault was without a parallel in this county. The family is a highly respectable one and the shock of the tragedy sent a tremor of mingled horror and of touching sympathy for the family throughout the countryside.

The body was taken in charge by F. M. Compton and will be prepared for burial tomorrow. Arrangements for the funeral, however, had not been made at an early hour this morning.

Surviving are the husband, a son and a daughter.

Officers were working throughout the night in connecting their complete chain of evidence.

NATION'S PRODUCTION NOT HELPLESSNESS SAYS PRESIDENT WINTER WHEAT CROP ESTIMATED AT HALF BILLION BUSHELS

By the Associated Press.

Washington, May 8.—Hope that at the end of the present war the nation of the world would make a joint effort to keep the peace, backed by a common police force, was expressed by President Wilson today in an interview with the committee of the American Union Against Militarism which called to protest against his preparedness program and against the military arm of the government in the country west of the Alleghenies.

The president told his callers that a helpless nation would be negligible in the world. He said there was a difference between preparedness and militarism. He said that in response to a question declared that compulsory military training was not contrary to the existing constitution. He insisted that on account of his office the president must frequently address audiences from the upper classes and that the response he received upon the proposal to increase the military was misleading him as to the true sentiment of the country.

The president said that the committee while America's traditions were anti-militarism they were not those of military preparedness. He said that the existing United States army was not large enough to safeguard the Mexican border and that it had been found necessary to prepare the way to deal with tremendous tasks quite independent of war.

The committee was headed by Miss Lillian D. Wald, Rabbi Stephen S. Wise and Amos E. Pinchot, all of New York City; A. Berle of Cambridge and John A. MacFarland, legislative chairman of the national committee.

The committee presented a memorial setting forth that while the union did not stand against war or reasonable preparedness nor for peace, it was convinced that the big army and navy programs were a menace to democracy.

CARRANZA PLAYS TO MEET CONDITIONS

By the Associated Press.

Mexico City, May 8.—General Carranza and his official advisers were in conference during all of Sunday night and until 3 o'clock Monday morning, discussing the campaign against the border raids which it is believed have been inaugurated by the enemies of the Carranza government now residing in the United States. Telegrams from the foreign office today said that the plots of the conspirators have become known to the secret service agents of the Mexican government and that the names of all the leaders have been obtained.

According to these messages San Antonio, Texas, is being used as the headquarters for the movement and the Carranza government is directing it. The avowed intention of these men, it is declared, is to cause serious differences between Mexico and the United States. The newspapers reported this morning published on their front page a history of recent border raids and characterized the participants in them as enemies of both nations. The hope is expressed editorially that the American people will see through the schemes and that public opinion will not condemn Mexico wrongly.

Washington, May 8.—Almost a half billion bushel is the winter wheat forecast for this year by the department of agriculture in its May crop report. This is 155,000,000 bushels less than harvested last year, when a world's record crop was gathered in the United States, but the crop this year is growing on a much smaller acreage and the severe winter caused a heavy bombardment of the acreage planted last fall. In all 4,236,000 acres were abandoned, leaving for harvest 33,030,000 acres, which is 7,433,000 acres less than harvested last year.

"The heaviest abandonment occurred," the department reported, "in the important group of winter wheat states extending from Ohio through Indiana to Illinois where it reached its maximum intensity and through Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa and Missouri. This abandonment was due principally to late seeding on wet and poorly prepared seed bed, followed by a winter of unusual vigor.

The activity of the green bug, the hard winter in Texas, with a severe winter drouth, caused an abandonment of 23 per cent of the southern acreage in that state. Montana, Washington and California also showed an abandonment of 20 to 25 per cent.

"Present conditions of growth are poorest in the central group of states, where winter killing was most severe.

"The Atlantic coast crop is generally fair to good.

"The Russian fly, reported as active in many sections last fall, is seemingly

AMERICAN CAVALRY STARTS IN PURSUIT OF BANDIT RAIDERS

By the Associated Press.

Marathon, May 8.—Two troops of American cavalry swung southward this afternoon into the Big Bend country, moving on to Glenn Springs where three soldiers lost their lives and a little boy was shot to death in the raid by Villista bandits Friday night. The one hundred and eighty men, belonging to Troops A and B of the Eighth cavalry, under command of Major Lanckhorst. Two troops of the Fourteenth cavalry, commanded by Col. F. W. Whitley from Fort Clark, go forward tomorrow.

A strict censorship is enforced to screen the troop movements in the field campaign in whatever form it takes, either in the pursuit of the Villista brigades or in the protection of the border from further attacks.

Capt. Casper Cole with twenty-three men of Troop A is now scouting in the river country where the bandits recrossed the Rio Grande in flight after the attacks on Glenn Springs and Boquilla. His observations and reports of the bandit movements are being sent to Major General Funston that a plan of future action may be developed.

Many unconfirmed reports are current tonight at Boquilla that bodies of bandits are operating near there on the Mexican side. The number of cavalry under present orders to proceed is being kept at a minimum so that no effort will be made to pursue the bandits into Mexico unless they are observed near the border. In that event a chase into Mexican territory may be attempted that may carry the American forces fifty or more miles into Coahuila.

Lack of transportation and properly defended lines of communication preclude any extended pursuit into Mexico, and military men here do not think another punitive expedition possible because of the lack of cavalrymen. The last body of Villistas recrossed the Rio Grande Saturday morning, by now they are nearly forty miles south of the river.

Texas Cattlemen Refuse Overtures from Packers

By the Associated Press.

Fort Worth, May 8.—Texas cattlemen today refused overtures of executives of four packing industries looking toward an amicable settlement of differences arising from marketing conditions, a committee appointed at the Houston convention reporting unfavorably toward propositions to establish a working agreement with the packers.

The packers present at the conference were: T. E. Wilson, president Schwarzchild and Sulzberger Packing company, Chicago; L. F. Swift, president Swift and company, Chicago; Edward Morris, president Morris and company, Chicago; Arthur Meeker, vice president Armour and company, Chicago; R. C. McManus, attorney for Swift and company, Chicago. Weiler, advertising manager Swift and company, Chicago.

It was recommended that the Texas support the marketing committee of the National Livestock association.

Injured Officers Will Recover

By the Associated Press.

Lawton, Okla., May 8.—Lieutenants J. E. McMahon and Richard C. Scott, injured in a bullet accident at Fort Sill Sunday morning, will recover according to hospital physicians. Lieutenant McMahon had three ribs broken and Lieutenant Scott will lose the sight of one eye.

The funeral services for Lieut. Harold S. Taylor, one of the two officers killed, were held at the post this afternoon. The body of Lieut. Edwin E. Pritchett was shipped to Washington, D. C., for burial in the Arlington national cemetery.

Four More Irish Rebels Executed

By the Associated Press.

London, May 8.—Four of the leaders of the Irish revolt have been sentenced to death by the Dublin court martial and executed, according to official statement issued tonight. They were Cornelius Colbert, Edmund Kent, Michael Mallon and J. J. Houston. Nineteen others convicted in the insurrection were sentenced to death, but the sentence was commuted to various terms of penal servitude.

On three others prison terms were imposed. Two were acquitted.

FAY AND ASSOCIATES ALL FOUND GUILTY

By the Associated Press.

New York, May 8.—The jury which for ten days heard testimony at the trial of Robert Fay, a former lieutenant in the German army; Walter Scholz and Paul Daech, charged with conspiracy to destroy munitions shops through bomb contrivances, returned a verdict of "guilty" tonight against all of the defendants.

The jury deliberated on the case for five hours and in reaching a verdict asked for clemency in behalf of Daech, who, according to his own statement, and those of Fay and Scholz, was an employee of Fay and knew little of the details of the "fire bomb" plot.

FULLER CO-OPERATION DEMANDED OF MEXICANS

WASHINGTON HOPES AGREEMENT WILL SOON BE REACHED

CALLING OUT NATIONAL GUARD NOT BEING CONSIDERED YET. BORAH ASKS MORE TROOPS—DE FACTO GOVERNMENT NOTIFIED OF RAIDS.

By the Associated Press.

Washington, May 8.—Administration officials are hopeful that effective co-operation between American and Mexican troops to exterminate the band of Mexican outlaws which raided Glenn Springs last Friday night will mark the conclusion of the conference at El Paso between Generals Scott and Obregon. In the meantime both at the war and state departments it was stated officially that General Funston has full authority to send his troops across the border on any hot trail.

Officials would not comment on border advice. The question of calling out a portion of the national guard is not under immediate consideration as the other means of adding materially to the border guard would be to employ coast artillery troops.

Senator Borah issued a statement tonight urging that additional troops be ordered to the border and any man or party in Mexico which sought to embarrass the task of protecting American interests be treated as enemies of the country.

SAYS CARRANZA CANNOT GUARD BORDER.

"It must be apparent to anyone familiar with the situation," said the senator, "that Carranza cannot establish a government and what concerns most, he cannot protect the border."

"It was stated today that the agreement suggested by General Carranza in the first exchange of notes for a reciprocal right to cross the border on any recurrence of the Columbia raid, still was assumed to be in force only if the status of the present expedition is involved. The right to pursue outlaws who engaged in raid was clearly stated in the original proposal from Carranza and if Funston's men go across in pursuing the Glenn Springs raiders they will be covered by that agreement regardless of the status of General Pershing's expedition.

Secretary Lansing declined to say what steps were being taken to investigate intimations that the inspiration for the Columbus or Glenn Springs raid had come from the American side of the border.

The Washington government was still without official notification tonight as to Carranza's attitude toward the Scott-Obregon plan. It was assumed from the fact that another conference between the two officers was held today, however, that he had accepted the proposal. A report from General Scott was expected at the conclusion of the conference although the difficulty in time made it impossible that the text of the agreement, if ratified, could be made public before tomorrow morning.

NOTIFY CARRANZA OF GLENN SPRINGS RAID.

Secretary Lansing forwarded representations to Carranza through special Agent Rodgers at Mexico City last night when news of the Glenn Springs raid was confirmed. The de facto government was notified of the facts of the raid by the Mexican consul in Washington. Mr. Rodgers was instructed to inform Mexican officials that the United States assumed they would take prompt steps to capture and punish the bandits.

Tyree and Compton Turn Up and Tell Story of Attack

By the Associated Press.

Marathon, Tex., May 8.—Private Roscoe Tyree and O. G. Compton arrived late this afternoon in company with Sergeant Smyth. They were brought here on a motor car from Glenn Springs. Anxiety had been felt for these two men, as Tyree disappeared after the fight between the bandits and the patrol at Glenn Springs. He had been reported taken into Mexico by the Marauders. It is now believed that the man reported kidnapped with John Deers from below Boquilla was named Coy.

Sergeant Smyth was in command of the patrol at Glenn Springs which was attacked by Mexican bandits Friday. Private Roscoe Tyree, the missing soldier, who was thought to have been taken from Glenn Springs, was in agony when brought to Marathon tonight. His right arm and foot were badly burned. He said that he and his comrades were surrounded by the bandits and taken from the adobe house. Tyree fled down a creek, where he was found the next day. Sergeant Smyth came in with him on a truck.

Oscar G. Compton, also reported as having been taken, arrived at Glenn Springs. Compton's little boy, Garnett, was ridden with bullets in the raid. Compton told how the bandits surrounded the settlement with the apparent object of killing all the soldiers and then sacking the place at their leisure.

"I heard the sound of many feet on the rocks," said Compton, whose home was a short distance from the soldiers' encampment, "and then two Mexicans with handkerchiefs tied across their faces struck their heads in the front door and asked if any soldiers were there. I answered them and looked out and saw Mexicans coming in all directions, yelling as loudly as they could.

BORDER SITUATION MORE GRAVE SINCE RAID OF LAST WEEK

By the Associated Press.

El Paso, Tex., May 8.—Today's conference between Generals Scott and Funston and General Obregon, Mexican minister of war, and Juan Amador, sub-secretary of foreign affairs, ended late today without an agreement having been reached. It was indicated today, however, that efforts to reach an understanding regarding the status of the American troops in Mexico had not been abandoned and that another conference would be held.

The meeting took place in General Scott's private car on the American side. When or where the next meeting will be held was not disclosed.

When General Obregon returned to Juarez in his touring car he was asked:

"Is the conference ended?"

He smiled, shrugged his shoulders, and replied:

"It is just beginning."

A. J. McQuatters, president of the Alvarado Mining and Smelting company, was again present at the meeting of the American and Mexican representatives. Neither he or any of the others would discuss what had taken place.

In El Paso tonight the feeling grew that the situation had taken on added gravity following the report of the bandit raid in the Big Bend district.

UNITED STATES MAKES MORE DEMANDS.

New demands were presented to the Mexican representative it was said, which include the co-operation of the Mexican and American troops in districts not hitherto touched in the negotiations.

Whatever the reply of the Mexican minister of war, it is evident that he wished to gain more time. The conference began at 4:15 p. m., and ended in just an hour and fifteen minutes. Tonight more telegraphic conversations between General Obregon and Carranza at the capital took place.

Much interest was taken tonight in word reaching here from Marathon regarding a story told by a minister, name unknown, who reached there in an automobile four days after the district raided last Friday night.

ONE OF BANDITS A CARRANZA MAN.

According to the story told by this man, the body of one of the bandits was found near Glenn Springs and on it were papers which identified him as a Carranza follower.

No further report came from the raided district in the Big Bend country. The news of the day was the arrival of two troops of cavalry from Fort Clark and two from El Paso at Marathon, where they started southward to pursue the bandits.

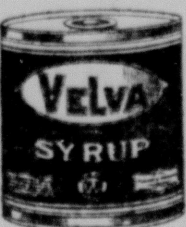

General Funston refused to indicate whether a second expeditionary force is to go into Mexico near Boquilla. He said circumstances made it impossible to say.

Considerable significance was placed in his reply to a question asked him. He was asked if a report from Washington that troops were sent away and he believed they had "not yet" gone over.

This afternoon's conference came at the end of a day of rumors and speculations which reached their apex in the raid on Glenn Springs.

the raiders. The region below the border from Glenn Springs and from which the bandits are said to have come is included in that over which Carranza has declared himself to have control.

A request from an American oil company at Tuxpam that a battleship be sent there to protect foreign interests against threatened action by Carranza troops was referred by the state department today to the American consul at Tampico.

Consul Letcher reported quiet at Chihuahua. There is a Carranza garrison of a thousand men now in that place.

Only meager details of the Glenn Springs raid have reached Washington. The latest was a consular report from Engle Pass saying that three civilians and three soldiers had been killed and two soldiers wounded.

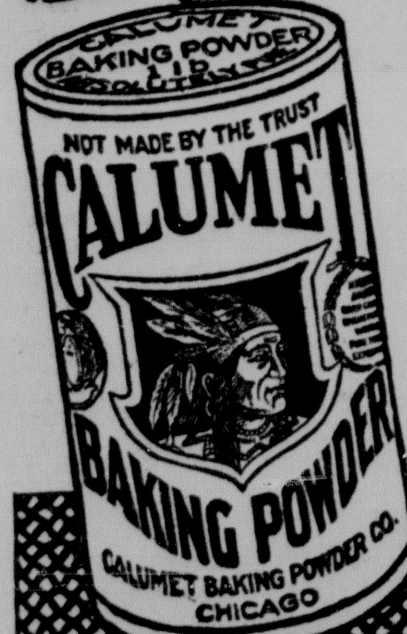

Consul Blocker's message said the bodies of Deemers and Coy, two of the civilians slain, had been found with their throats cut. The other civilian reported killed was the Compton boy. The message estimated the force of the raiders at one hundred and said the women of Glenn Springs had been sent to Marathon by motor truck.

the report that a split in relations between the United States and Mexico was about to occur because Obregon was unable to command the support of the various Mexican generals for the tentative agreement.

BELIEVE ULTIMATUM GIVEN TO OBREGON.

Another story which went the rounds was to the effect that at the Sunday meeting in the immigration station the American conferees had notified the Mexican minister of war that the United States had neared the limits of its patience and insisted on a speedy understanding. According to this story, General Obregon was told that the American government would consent to no further discussions and the proposed protocol would have to be signed as drawn up.

The participants of the conference refused absolutely to discuss what had been said in this connection, but the stories came from persons in such close touch with the situation that they were given much credence. The attitude today of the principals to the conference lent color to the reports. General Obregon was in a conference with military advisers and with Andreas Garcia, Mexican consul in El Paso, before 8 o'clock this morning. Other conferees took place throughout the early hours of the day. Meanwhile, General Scott and Funston held closely to their private car except at luncheon, waiting for a request for another meeting to come from Juarez.

NEXT STEP MUST COME FROM MEXICANS.

General Scott said that he and General Funston were waiting for "the other fellows" to act. He explained that the next move must come from the Mexican conferees, replying when he was asked if the American conferees would take any steps to hasten the meeting.

"Not one step."

In the middle of the morning General Obregon emerged from his private car long enough to state there would be a conference about noon. Twelve o'clock came, however, but without a meeting. In the middle of the afternoon word was given out by General Garcia that the conferees would get together some time after 3 o'clock, perhaps. In the meantime the American representatives denied all knowledge that a meeting was to be had.

Steps eventually meant to keep secret the place of meeting were taken. General Funston left the private car late in the afternoon for a dining room not announced. As late as 4:30 General Scott's orderly reported that he was asleep. Newspaper men were on hand, however, when General Obregon and his party drove up. General Funston soon returned.

General Obregon had his train all prepared for a trip southward had been put on the wheels greased and steam sooted up. Disappointment was evident among the Mexicans over the failure to depart.

Signal Corps Sent to Marathon

By the Associated Press.
San Antonio, Tex., May 8.—A section of Company H, signal corps, left for Marathon tonight on a special train of nine cars. The signal corps outfit has been ordered to Marathon to establish a telegraph line from there south to the border at Boquilla, where Mexican bandits crossed to attack Glenn Springs.

This movement is believed to be in connection with General Funston's reported plan to send a second expedition into Mexico. The signal corps section is carrying sufficient equipment for the construction of many miles of telegraph lines. In order to obviate any delay in placing the line in operation the section is taking its own telegraph equipment.

While nothing official was given out at headquarters concerning the report that chase of the bandits will assume the magnitude of a second Mexican expedition, officers here were frank in saying such was the only logical course to be followed.

Government Busy Trying to Locate Missing Parcels

By the Associated Press.

London, May 8.—Since the beginning of seizures of parcel post matter to and from the United States and Europe to American consulate general here has been flooded with requests from individuals to look up missing parcels. Consul General Skinner, in a faithful effort to comply with such requests, made so much work for the blockade officials that they asked him to supply them with more definite information to facilitate these articles.

Extremely vague and inaccurate descriptions are supplied as a rule by inquirers, and in an effort to correct this shortcoming, the procurator general of the prize court now suggests that owners of missing parcels furnish with their complaints approximate date of mailing, the register number, if any, and the name of the vessel on which the package was sent.

Federal Grand Jury Indicts Baltimore German Consul

By the Associated Press.

New York, May 8.—Carl A. Luderitz, German consul at Baltimore, Md., was indicted by the federal grand jury here today charged with procuring a false passport from Horst von Der Goltz, confessed spy. Another indictment was handed down charging Wolfe von Igel, former secretary of Capt. Francis von Igel, recalled German military attaché; Dr. Walter D. Scheele, already indicted in the alleged "fire bomb" plot, and Gustave Steinberg, alleged aide of Franz von Kintelen, German agent with conspired to falsify a ship's manifest in sending a cargo of lubricating oil to Germany.

The indictment against Consul Luderitz charged that he obtained a passport for Von Der Goltz in the name of Bridgeman W. Taylor, from the secretary of state at Washington on August 24, 1914, and that on October 2 of the same year the passport was viewed by the Italian consul here.

On the following day Von Der Goltz sailed for Genoa, Italy, on board the Italian liner Duca d'Aosta. According to federal officers the new indictment against Von Igel and Dr. Scheele was made possible by the passports seized in the former officer's recalled attaché.

These alleged papers show that freight charges for shipment of the oil were paid by Von Igel while acting as secretary to Von Papien. The indictment states that the lubricating oil was made at the plant of the New Jersey Agricultural Chemical company, at Hookstown, N. J., between January 1, 1915, and November 13, 1915, and that August 6 of that year Dr. Scheele as head of the concern arranged for the shipment of 720 bags of the oil chemically reduced to powder and billed as fertilizer on the steamship Esrom of the Inter Ocean Transportation company to Germany via Sweden.

To Visit Aggie Schools.

By the Associated Press.
Jackson, Miss., May 8.—Governor Bilbo, accompanied by several educators and trustees of universities and colleges, will leave today for Memphis, where a party of seven will be assembled for an inspection of universities and agricultural colleges in Oklahoma, Nebraska, Kansas, Missouri, Iowa, Wisconsin, Michigan and Oklahoma will be the first state visited. Governor Bilbo announced that some of the most desirable features in use in the states visited would be adopted in Mississippi colleges.

To Inoculate Seed.
Coating the seed of legumes with inoculated soil before planting is a simple method of insuring soil inoculation at slight cost. County agents in Illinois have found ordinary furniture glue effective in holding particles of inoculated soil to the seeds. This gives each individual seed some of the particles of inoculated soil which it carries with it when it is planted. The scheme requires but a small amount of inoculated soil and costs but a few cents a bushel. The method is described in Farmers' Bulletin 704 of the department.

Dissolve two handfuls of furniture glue for every gallon of boiling water and allow the solution to cool. Put the seed in a wash tub and sprinkle enough of the solution on the seed to moisten but not to wet it (1 quart per bushel is sufficient), and stir the mixture thoroughly until all the seed are moistened.

Secure the inoculated soil from a place where the same kind of plants as the seed are growing, making sure that the roots have a vigorous development of nodules. Dig the soil in the shade, preferably in the barn or basement, and pulverize it thoroughly into a dust. Scatter this dust over the moistened seed, using from one-half to one gallon of dirt for each bushel of seed, mixing thoroughly until the seed no longer stick together. The seed are then ready to sow.

Duluth Is Ravaged by $600,000 Fire

By the Associated Press.

Duluth, Minn., May 8.—A fire in the Alger Smith Lumber company plant here today caused $600,000 damage before it was brought under control at 4:30 o'clock this afternoon. The interstate bridge approach and the sawmill of the Alger Smith company were saved largely through the work of the fire tug McGonagle and by two tugs owned by a towing company. East of the city two serious fires occurred. Two large dairies were destroyed and a forest fire still is burning east of Woodland. The wind, which was blowing sixty-five miles an hour throughout the day, died down at 5 o'clock.

WAR SUMMARY

By the Associated Press.

An entire length of trenches near Hill 304 northwest of Verdun has been captured by the Germans, according to official reports. The fighting, which was reported by the Germans, according to Berdard, added forty officers and 1790 soldiers were taken prisoners.

Paris reports that to the east of the hill the Germans were driven from a trench which they previously had penetrated and that to the west of the hill a German assault against French positions at Hill 287 was put down by the French fire.

A heavy bombardment is in progress against the Avocourt wood and the entire region of Hill 304, while to the east of Verdun and in the Woivre the artillery activity continues. Around the Thiaumont farm north of Verdun a French attack broke down and 700 men were taken prisoner.

The German on the Russian front launched an offensive to the south of Illusht against the Russians but met with no success. Mine fighting and bombardments continued at various points along this line. In Galicia, to the northwest of Tarnopol, the Russians captured a mine crater from the Austrians.

In the fighting in Asia Minor, the Russians have compelled the Turks to withdraw from their entire first trenches. Attacks by the Austrians against the Italians in the Marmolada Mountains have been repulsed. The bombardment in the Adamello region continues.

Reject Senate Proposals.

By the Associated Press.
Washington, May 8.—Senate amendments to the army bill again were rejected by the house and the measure returned to conference. The proposals to empower the president to raise a federal volunteer army of 251,000 were rejected flatly by votes of 221-192 and 251-109 respectively while the nitrate plant amendment was substituted by one offered by Chairman Hays of the house military affairs committee without a record vote.

MRS. ROUSSEAU DELIGHTS IN COMPLIMENTARY RECITAL

Appealing Waco Singer Gives a Cycle from Local Composer in Offering at Baylor.

Mrs. Christine McConnell Rousseau's song recital last evening in Carroll Chapel, complimentary to the Women's Christian Temperance Union adds one more musical offering to the many with which Waco has been signally favored of late. It was a recital of particular local interest, of which a large, attentive and responsive audience gave convincing evidence, both because of Mrs. Rousseau's careful study and gracious personality expressed through the medium of her glorious voice, and also because most of the program consisted of compositions by Mr. Egbert of Baylor. Two of Schubert's songs, "Hark, Hark, the Lark," "Death and the Maiden," and "Floods of Spring," (Rachmaninoff) and "But my Bird is Lark in Homing" by Schubert were the other numbers, the last a very effective and poetical song, beautifully rendered. Mr. Egbert's song "Cycle," "Eiland," has a very marked medieval atmosphere, recalling that of the old monastic life. Scheffel's "Eikehard," and Mrs. Rousseau's lovely carried its human interest and melancholy hopelessness. Of Mr. Egbert's other compositions she sang with most effect, "Tonight," "I Dreamed Beloved," and the Duke's monologue in "Twelfth Night"—"If music be the food of Love, Play on"—an appropriate number of large concept and distinctly orchestral character for these days of Shakespearian memory.

President Goes to Circus.

By the Associated Press.
Washington, May 8.—President Wilson went to the circus tonight. Seated on the front row, he and his wife with a palm frond and a bag of peanuts with Secretary McAdoo, he apparently lost nothing of the holiday spirit of the occasion.

A group of clowns who carried out their funniest antics just in front of him found a particularly appreciative spectator in the president, who many times leaned back and laughed heartily. When the party entered the big tent the crowd of several thousand in the president's box, he passed one of the rings the president took off his hat and laughingly made a motion as if to throw it in. The crowd quickly caught the point and applauded again.

By the Associated Press.
New Orleans, May 8.—Support for the Stephens bill which would make it unlawful for dealers to sell trademarked goods below the standard price fixed by the manufacturers was urged in committee reports presented at the opening session here today of the annual convention of National Association of Retail Grocers.

The convention will be in session through Thursday.

Getting Ready for Camp.

By the Associated Press.
San Antonio, May 8.—Army headquarters here has inaugurated a campaign in the interest of the civilian training camp to be opened here June 12 to July 8. Applications have not been as numerous as expected and army officers, backed by commercial organizations of this city, have undertaken an organized plan to enlist at least 600 men for the opening of the camp.

The National Training Camp association has sent funds here for a publicity campaign and Lieut. K. Sterling has been started on a lecturing tour over Texas, Oklahoma, New Mexico and Arizona in the interest of the success of the training camp.

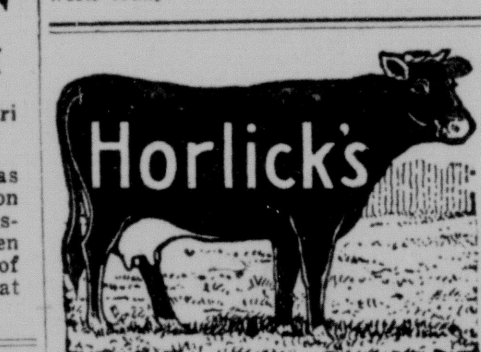

Maj. M. H. Barnum, chief of staff, in an address at a meeting business men, said he had ordered suitable uniforms for 600 and expected that many to attend the school.

Several Are After Albanian Throne

By the Associated Press.
Paris, May 8.—A Havas dispatch from Athens says several aspirants to the throne of Albania are conducting active propaganda. They are said to include Prince Cyrille of Bulgaria; Prince William of Wied, former ruler of the country, who has the support of Austrians; Assif Pasha, who is supported by part of the Albanians, and the young Turk Bashi Bey, who contends that a Turk should be selected as the Albanian sovereign.

Marine Strike Not Settled.

By the Associated Press.
New York, May 8.—A conference here today, the third held thus far in an attempt to settle the marine engineers' strike, was unavailing. A representative of the employers expressed an opinion that the conferees were at an end. Approximately 4000 garment workers whose employers are independent of the manufacturers' association and who have granted the union demands, returned to work today.

WASHINGTON HOPES AGREEMENT WILL SOON BE REACHED

The raiders. The region below the border from Glenn Springs and from which the bandits are said to have come is included in that over which Carranza has declared himself to have control.

A request from an American oil company at Tuxpan that a battleship be sent there to protect foreign interests against threatened action by Carranza troops was referred by the state department today to the American consul at Tampico.

Consul Letcher reported quiet at Chihuahua. There is a Carranza garrison of a thousand men now in that place.

Only meager details of the Glenn Springs raid have reached Washington. The latest was a consular report from Eagle Pass saying that three civilians and three soldiers had been killed and two soldiers wounded.

Consul Blocker's message said the bodies of Deemore and Coy, two of the civilians slain, had been found with their throats cut. The other civilian reported killed was the Compton boy. The message estimated the force of the raiders at one hundred and said the women of Glenn Springs had been sent to Marathon by motor truck.

the report that a split in relations between the United States and Mexico was about to occur because Oregon was unable to command the support of the various Mexican generals for the tentative agreement.

BELIEVE ULTIMATUM GIVEN TO OBREGON.

Another story which went the rounds was to the effect that at the Sunday meeting in the immigration station the American conferees had notified the Mexican minister of war that the United States had agreed to a speedy understanding. According to this story, General Obregon was told that the American government would consent to no further discussions and proposed protocol would have to be signed as drawn up.

The participants of the conference refused absolutely to discuss what had been said in this connection, but the stories came from persons in such close touch with the situation that they were given much credence.

The attitude today of the principals to the conference lent color to the reports. General Obregon was in serious conference with military advisers and with Andreas Garcia, Mexican consul in El Paso, before 8 o'clock this morning. Other conferees took place throughout the early hours of the day. Meanwhile, Generals Scott and Funston held closely to their private car except at luncheon, waiting for a request for another meeting to come from Juarez.

NEXT STEP MUST COME FROM MEXICANS.

General Scott said that he and General Funston were waiting for "the other fellows" to act. He explained that the next move must come from the Mexican conferees, replying when he was asked if the American conferees would take any steps to hasten the meeting.

In the middle of the morning General Obregon emerged from his private car long enough to state there would be a conference about noon. Twelve o'clock came, however, but without a meeting. In the middle of the afternoon word was given out by General Garcia that the conferees would get together some time today, perhaps. In the meantime the American representatives denied all knowledge that a meeting was to be had.

Steps eventually meant to keep secret the place of meeting were taken. General Funston left the private car late in the afternoon for a destination not announced. As late as 4:30 General Scott's secretary reported that he was asleep. Newspaper men were on hand, however, when General Obregon and his party drove up. General Funston soon returned.

General Obregon had his train all prepared for a trip southward prior to the conference. Provisions had been put on the wheels greased and steam gotten up. Disappointment was evident among the Mexicans over the failure to depart.

Signal Corps Sent to Marathon

By the Associated Press.

San Antonio, Tex., May 8.—A section of Company H, signal corps, left for Marathon tonight on a special train of nine cars. The signal corps outfit has been ordered to Marathon to establish a telegraph line from there south to the border at Equilla, where Mexican bandits crossed to attack Glenn Springs.

This movement is believed to be in connection with General Funston's reported plan to send a second expedition into Mexico. The signal corps section is carrying sufficient equipment for the construction of many miles of telegraph lines. In order to obviate any delay in placing the line in operation the section is taking its own telegraph equipment.

While nothing official was given out at headquarters concerning the report that chase of the bandits will assume the magnitude of a second Mexican expedition, officers here were frank in saying such was the only logical course to be followed.

Government Busy Trying to Locate Missing Parcels

By the Associated Press.

London, May 8.—Since the beginning of seizures of parcel post matter to and from the United States and Europe to American consulate general here has been flooded with requests from individuals to look up missing parcels. Consul General Skinner, in a faithful effort to comply with such requests, made so much work for the blockade officials that they asked him to supply them with more definite information to facilitate these articles.

Extremely vague and inaccurate descriptions for parcels are supplied as a rule by inquirers, and in an effort to correct this shortcoming, the procurator general of the prize court now suggests that owners of missing parcels furnish with their complaints an approximate date of mailing, the register number, if any, and the name of the vessel on which the package was sent.

Federal Grand Jury Indicts Baltimore German Consul

By the Associated Press.

New York, May 8.—Carl A. Ludert, German consul at Baltimore, Md., was indicted by the federal grand jury here today charged with procuring a false passport from Horst von Der Goldt, confessed spy. Another indictment was handed down charging Wolfe von Igel, former secretary of Capt. Franz von Papen, recalled German military attaché, Dr. Walter D. Scheele, already indicted in the alleged "fire bomb" plot, and Gustave Steinberg, alleged aide of Franz von Kintelen, German agent with consular passport, with conspiring to falsify U. S. ship's manifest in sending a cargo of lubricating oil to Germany.

The indictment against Consul Ludert charged that he obtained a passport for Von Der Goldt in the name of Erdmann von Taylor, from the secretary of state at Washington on August 24, 1914, and that on October 2 of the same year the passport was viewed by the Italian consul here.

On the following day Von Der Goldt sailed for Genoa, Italy, on board the Italian liner Duca D'Aosta. According to federal officers the consul here made possible by the passport seized in the former officer's recalled attack.

These alleged papers show that freight charges for shipment of the oil were paid by Von Igel while acting as secretary to Von Papen.

The indictment states that the lubricating oil was made at the plant of the New Jersey Agricultural Chemical company of Hoboken, N. J., between January 1, 1915, and November 13, 1915, and that August 6 of that year Dr. Scheele as head of the consular department of the shipment of 729 barrels of the oil chemically reduced to powder and billed as fertilizer on the steamship Esrom of the Inter Ocean Transportation company to Germany via Sweden.

To Visit Aggie Schools.

By the Associated Press.
Jackson, Miss., May 8.—Governor Bilbo, accompanied by several educators and trustees of universities and colleges in this state, left today for Memphis, where a party of seven will be assembled for an inspection of universities and agricultural colleges in Oklahoma, Nebraska, Kansas, Missouri, Iowa, Wisconsin, Michigan and Illinois. Oklahoma will be the first state visited. Governor Bilbo announced that the scope of the most desirable features in use in the states visited would be adopted in Mississippi colleges.

To Inoculate Seed.

Coating the seed of legumes with inoculated soil before planting is a simple method of insuring soil inoculation at slight cost. County agents in Illinois have found ordinary furniture glue effective in holding particles of inoculated soil to the seeds. This gives each individual seed some of the particles of inoculated soil which it carries with it when it is planted. The scheme requires but a small amount of inoculated soil and costs but a few cents an acre. The method is described in Farmers' Bulletin 794 of the department.

Dissolve two handfuls of furniture glue for every gallon of boiling water and allow the solution to cool. Put the seed in a washbowl and then sprinkle enough of the solution on the seed to moisten but not to wet it (1 quart per bushel is sufficient), and stir the mixture thoroughly until all the seed are moistened.

Secure the inoculated soil from a place where the same kind of plants as the seed are growing, making sure that the roots have a vigorous development of nodules. Dry the soil in the shade, preferably in the barn or basement, and pulverize it thoroughly into a dust. Scatter this dust over the moistened seed, using from one-half to one gallon of dirt for each bushel of seed, mixing thoroughly until the seed no longer stick together. The seed are then ready to sow.

Duluth Is Ravaged by $600,000 Fire

By the Associated Press.

Duluth, Minn., May 8.—A fire in the Alger Smith Lumber company plant here today caused $600,000 damage before it was brought under control at 4:36 o'clock this afternoon. The interstate bridge approach and the sawmill of the Alger Smith company were saved largely through the work of the fire tug McGonagle and by two tugs owned by a towing company.

East of the city two serious fires occurred. Two large dairies were destroyed and a forest fire still is burning east of Woodland. The wind, which was blowing sixty-five miles an hour throughout the day, died down at 5 o'clock.

WAR SUMMARY

By the Associated Press.

An entire length of trenches near Hill 364 northwest of Verdun has been captured by the Germans, according to official reports. The fighting, captured by the Germans, according to official reports, resulted in the capture of 400 prisoners and 123 soldiers were taken prisoners.

Paris reports that to the east of the hill the Germans were driven from a trench which they previously had penetrated and that to the west of the hill a German assault against French positions at Hill 287 was put down by the French fire.

A heavy bombardment is in progress against the Avocourt wood and the entire region of Hill 364, while to the east of Verdun and in the Woerpe the artillery activity continues. Around the Thiaumont farm north of Verdun a French attack broke down and 700 men were taken prisoners.

Germans on the Russian front launched an offensive to the south of the line which they previously had penetrated and that to the west of the line, in Galicia, to the northwest of Tarnopol, the Russians captured a mine crater from the Germans.

In the fighting in Asia Minor, the Russians have compelled the Turks to withdraw from their entire first line trenches. Attacks by the Austrians against the Italians in the Marmolada Falseair and other sectors were repulsed. The bombardment in the Adamello region continues.

Reject Senate Proposals.

By the Associated Press.

Washington, May 8.—Senate amendments to the army bill again were rejected by the house and the measure returned to conference. The provision to empower the president to raise a federal volunteer army of 261,000 were rejected flatly by votes of 221 to 143 and 251 to 105 respectively while the nitrate plant bill offered by Chairman Hays of the house military affairs committee without a record vote.

Police Make Raids on Houses of Ill Fame

One or two houses of questionable repute have been raided by the officers of the chief of police department in the past night or two, and a number of women who were found in them will be held to answer in cases of this kind.

The cases originating from the raid mentioned will come up shortly, and it is understood that other places of this kind will receive attention. That there are a number of such places which ought to have attention is the view held by the officers, and they will proceed in a short time when they shall have secured a little further data on which to work.

German Believes in Deep Plowing

Feffering to farming operations around Waco, and to the fact that farmers are beginning to get results on their efforts because they are putting more work and more common sense into their farming operations, a German who was a farmer in the Fatherland said:

"In my section of Germany the breaking up of the land was considered a most important part of the farming operations. In the plowing operations land was broken up to a depth of twelve inches, not any less, and often fourteen and even fifteen inches. In this way the ground was opened up to the rains, was followed and the percolation wonderfully assisted.

"Shallow plowing seems to have been one of the drawbacks here for the past, but there seems to be an awakening on this score, and it begins to look as though the people are going to break the land much deeper and more thoroughly, thereby insuring decidedly better results."

MRS. ALFRED ABEEL HOSTESS FOR MISS BECKWITH

Out at the Castle, Mrs. Alfred Abeel on Saturday entertained guests at the home, Miss Beckwith of Dallas.

MISS CHARLIE KATE TOD ACADEMY GRADUATE

Miss Charlie Katherine Tod has sent from Milford college invitation folder to announce her graduation from the academy department, Saturday, May 20. Fifteen classmates receive this distinction with Miss Tod.

MRS. ARTHUR COLEMAN TO BE BRIDGE HOSTESS

In anticipation of the arrival of her sisters, the Mesdames Ernest Raines of Galveston and William Hubert of Oklahoma City, Mrs. Arthur Coleman of Colcord avenue is extending invitations for a bridge matinee Tuesday, May 15.

EQUAL FRANCHISE CLUB HAS DELEGATES IN DALLAS

Leaving with Wednesday Mrs. W. E. Spell as president of the local club, together with the Mesdames Charles Richardson, Nelson Smith and Pearl Lovelace as delegates, go to Dallas for the state convention of the Texas Equal Franchise society. This will hold for two days.

EQUAL FRANCHISE CLUB PRESENTS MISS STEARN

Guests of the Shakspeare club two seasons gone by, will recall the forceful as well as humorous address of Miss Lottie Stearn of Wisconsin. Miss Stearn is again in Texas, and the Equal Franchise club will present her in complimentary address on suffrage for women, next Saturday evening.

FIFTY BIRTHDAY GUESTS WITH MISS OTIS LIGON

Honoring her eighth birthday, at the same time complimenting the little neighbor playmate, Evelyn Belle Sanger, from Dallas, Miss Otis Ligon of Franklin street entertained a half hundred little boys and girls on Saturday.

The birthday cake which never loses its fascination, and the donkey game, were some of the features in enjoyment.

INVITATIONS ARE GIVEN FOR MRS. W. W. KENDALL

The first of the week's pleasurable summons came from Mrs. W. W. Kendall and Miss Elizabeth Speight, who are gathering old friends to meet Mrs. Maurice Reid, a visitor from Dublin, Mrs. Eugene McGlasson, just home from her bridal trip, Mrs. Luther Penland a recent bride, and Mrs. J. M. Dawson. This will be an informal reception on Thursday afternoon in the Kendall home between the hours of 5 and 7 o'clock.

BEN GREAT PLAYERS CLOSE SHAKSPEARE SEASON

It is unfair to the many good features in the Shakspeare tercentenary celebration here, to say Dr. Armstrong has saved the best until the last. Yet, the coming of the Ben Great players, the first original woodland company, is anticipated by, not only the enthusiasts of Shakspeare, but by many converts which the tercentenary has made. Folders have been mailed to announce the schedule of plays, also to give the words of commendation from President Wilson. Down town ticket offices are added to those of Baylor university for the convenience of the town patronage.

HOME MUSIC RECITAL E. M. PARNUM, HOST

It is the custom of E. M. Parnum to bring his term of instruction to a close by having his pupils entertained by Mrs. Parnum within their own home. For the now closing season, the younger boys and girls gave their program before parents and invited guests, violin and piano selections making the creditable program. Tiny tots held their bows and brought their tones to that degree which elicited many compliments. Refreshments and the social hour were added as a later pleasure.

Those who gave selections were Marion Clark, Mary Cammack, Pauline Cammack, Mary Clayton, Robert Dietrich, Annie Grencio, Marie Grencio, Aline Marsh, Robert Olsen, John Owen Poole, William Zahn.

SUFFRAGE GOLDEN FLYER REACHES WACO TODAY

News has come in advance to Mrs. W. E. Spell, president of the local Equal Franchise club, that the "Golden Flyer," so christened by the national suffrage president, Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, reached Waco today.

Tonight the occupants of this car, Mrs. Alice S. Burke and Miss Nell Richardson, will make open air addresses. This is the car of which so much has been said. It left national headquarters in New York City to cross the continent into suffrage states.

Mrs. Cunningham, state president at Galveston, has wired Mrs. Spell that the Golden Flyer has met with wonderful success and that the occupants are conservative yet convincing speakers.

They are to be guests of Georgia Burleson hall. The plenary session of the dress tonight is Eighth and Austin streets.

MRS. GEORGE HUNTER SMITH HOSTESS AT BRIDGE GAME

The third in her series of post Eastern bridge games came with Mrs. Geo. Hunter Smith on Saturday. This, like the two preceding utilized five tables. About the rooms were admired the first poppy bowls of the season, the rich crimson blow being found in plenty.

Following the presentation of high score favor to Mrs. Harry Arnold and the contest in cut-throat, which Mrs. J. J. Powers won, a more general sociability prevailed over the plates of cream.

Mrs. Smith so planned this game that it fell upon the birthday of Mrs. Mary West Leary, a member of the household. Other guests were the Mesdames Robert Tolson, Camille Franklin, Sam Hanna, Charles Hamilton, Ludwig Williams, Sam Stratton, J. S. Hill, W. B. Hays, Edwin Clark, John Sleeper, J. J. Powers, Harry Arnold, Joseph Cornett, Pio Crespi, Jesse Penix, Louis Stephens, William Steele, Buford McWhirter with Miss Nigine Killough.

FEDERATED METHODISTS ARE IN SESSION TODAY

With the society of Clay street hostesses, the women of the federated Methodist Missionary societies hold their regular all day session today.

MRS. IRWIN COLGIN AT HOME FOR MRS. JAMES I. MOORE

Realizing that the visit from New York city of her aunt, Mrs. James I. Moore, is all too short for individual greeting from the friends with whom she had spent so many happy years, Mrs. Irwin Colgin bethought of whom these friends might be, and besought them for a late afternoon call.

In her cozy little home out on Austin Heights, using the lawn at sunset for the gathering, Mrs. Colgin welcomed a half hundred friends in order that this might be a call truly, informality was the watchword in preparation.

A wealth of prairie flowers, all sorts for during her short stay, were gathered for a gay porch setting.

The cream was served from the punch bowl which sat upon wild flower mat and was flanked by wild flower vases. In this pleasing response, were the Mesdames F. N. Calvin, P. E. Pace, H. C. Risher, J. W. Hale, T. R. Primm, M. F. Curtis, Houser, T. A. Blair, William Manchester, Sam Sanger, J. M. Moore, James Shear, W. S. THE TWO GREAT COMMANDMENTS.

(Matthew, 22:36-40)

Master, which is the great commandment in the law? Jesus said unto him, Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart and with all thy soul, and with all thy mind.

This is the first and great commandment. And the second is like unto it, Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself.

On these two commandments hang all the law and the prophets.

A PAIR OF TWINS, ALIKE AS PEAS.

Referring to a recent statement of the Post to the effect that Texas under the operation of local option has the best system of legal restraint that has yet been devised in this country for controlling the evils of the liquor traffic, as it reflects local sentiment, and local sentiment is a potential factor in law enforcement, the Waco News remarks: "The county of Harris, Will the Post say it is not the federal anti-narcotic law? Can it suggest any material reason for enforcing it in Houston? If the News entertains such views as are above indicated by implication, will it explain why the founders of our governmental system wrote into its organic law this language: 'The powers not delegated to the United States by the Constitution, nor prohibited to the states, are reserved to the states respectively, or to the people.'—Houston Post.

That evades the question. The Post's contention was that a restrictive law could only be enforced when it springs immediately from the people of the community to which it is applied. It concedes that the anti-narcotic law is vigorously enforced in Houston. That prohibits the sale of certain drugs.

Why can that law be enforced in Houston, and a law against the sale of whiskey be necessarily ineffective?

What advantage, as a drug, or what privilege, as a matter of morals or public welfare, has whiskey over the drugs denounced in the federal anti-narcotic law?

It is the contention of the Post that congress is without authority to adopt a police regulation?

Does it contend that the clause which it quotes gives congress control of the opium traffic, but reserves control of the whiskey traffic to the states?

The federal Mann white slave act prohibits, under severer penalties than any state has ever affixed, an offense against public morals. Does the Post hold that to be an invasion of state rights?

The most effective safeguards against swindling operations on a large scale are found in the federal statutes. Are these, in the view of the Post, unauthorized by the federal constitution?

The federal law takes cognizance of many evils and interdicts many crimes. Wherever it intervenes, it is, admittedly, a more potential force than the state.

In every great calamity, the national government is called upon for help.

Whenever an epidemic assumes alarming proportions, the appeal goes up to Washington for aid.

By common consent of all the people of all the states, it is the duty of the national government to act whenever the need is of such a nature as to be of national concern.

Does the Post dispute this test? If so, what test does it propose as the limitation upon national jurisdiction?

England, Germany, France and Russia have all recently declared that the alcoholic problem is the greatest question of a national nature with which they each have to deal.

Does the Post challenge the declarations of these governments upon this subject?

Does it admit that the drink problem is national in Europe, and claim that it is less serious in this country?

We are making no argument here, but merely trying to disclose the Post's view of the matter.

Each question here propounded may be easily answered. Make a clean breast of it, dear Post. Are you against all the federal statutes above referred to, and if not, how can you consistently oppose the passage of a federal law which would put whiskey under the ban?

Is liquor any better, or safer, or less offensive from any point of view than opium? If so, let us have the logic of the distinction.

That $100,000 libel suit looks a picnic lunch to Henry Ford since he squared up the bills for his peace expedition.

If Colquitt and von Jagow carried a single precinct in Texas last Saturday, the dispatches have failed to mention it.

Funeral directors, now in session at Houston, might find a good subject for practice by emblazing Jeff: McLenore's resolution.

Enough returns have been received from Saturday's conventions to show that Texas endorses Wilson in the ratio, approximately, of 16 to 1.

If we can find out where the next border raid will occur, and have Roosevelt on the spot, Mexico and the United States will pull off one joint debate worth the price of the admission.

Illinois displaces Iowa as the first corn producing state in the Union, and the best thing about it is that she has learned to put her corn to a much better use than she formerly did.

San Angelo has hired a city manager at a salary of $2500 and will try to cut politics out of its municipal business. The money will be well spent, if they get what they are paying for.

Mr. Henry has gone back to Washington, and while he is in that far country, he should step around to No. 80, Maiden Lane, N. Y., and get from Mr. Koebler the conclusion of that epistolary romance begun by Governor Colquitt.

The war broke out without a herald, and it may conclude without a parley. When the two fighters lose their wind, all that is left for the bystanders is to pick up the marbles which were spilled out of their pockets.

Maximilian Harden, a noted contributor to the Berlin press, boldly defends Wilson's course, and declares he has always stood for real neutrality. What a contrast between this attitude of a German leader and thinker with that of some of our own petty politicians.

GERMANY MOVES FOR PEACE.

That the suggestion of a desire for peace contained in the late German note was intended to pave the way for negotiations upon that subject, is shown by the request of Emperor William, made to Pope Benedict, that he will join with the king of Spain in arranging a conference of the warring nations to consider plans for an immediate armistice.

It is not strange that Germany should seek the offices of the Roman pontiff as an intermediary for peace. Its ally, Austria, is the most Catholic of nations. Spain is also a Catholic nation. Upon the side of the allies, Italy, France and Belgium are largely Catholic.

Pope Pius announced, soon after the war began, that he would intervene for peace whenever called on, and it is known that his diplomatic agents have been at work in this behalf.

The emperor declares, in his note to the pope, the general terms upon which he will insist—"an early peace, without detriment to the legitimate aspirations of nationalities." There will come the rub.

The rearrangement of the geography of Europe will be no easy task for powers whose past jealousies have been multiplied by desperate conflict. But that will be a small matter compared with the big question, which will be one of disarmament.

The allies have pledged their faith to each other not to stop until the military power of Prussia is broken. Each fears that she seeks but a breathing moment to prepare for a more desperate struggle, and that another treaty would go the way of her treaty with Belgium. The replies which will be made by the allies to the invitation of the pope will no doubt be tempered with these fears.

All mankind should have something to say about the terms of peace. If the interests and wishes of the people who make up the world, who pay the price of war, shall be consulted, rather than the ambitions of kings and emperors, no country will ever more be able to run amuck without having all the world to fight.

It is not possible by treaty to prevent nations from going to war. Treaties have been broken too often to justify that hope. It is possible, however, to organize among the nations what would be equivalent to a Vigilance Committee, which would hold out the threat of such prompt and wholesome punishment to a recalcitrant member that no Caesar would ever again be able to drive his people to attempt world conquest.

Waco will have so many good reasons to present at Dallas today why the Knights of Pythias should make this their permanent state home that there will be only one side to the question when she concludes her remarks.

That bandit raid on Glenn Springs was bad enough, but let us not forget that more people have been murdered in Dallas within the last two years than were killed at both Columbus and Glenn Springs. If you want to know what Governor Colquitt did for the administration of law in Dallas, consult the pardon record.

If, as is charged, Mr. Colquitt has committed a wrong in dealing with certain parties outside of the state in an effort to secure, or to hold, the German-American vote in Texas, what must be said of the course of Congressman Henry? On the surface it would appear that both candidates have been engaged in playing the same game.—Houston Post.

If the Post knows of any letters written by Mr. Henry which parallel those written by Governor Colquitt to Mr. Koebler of No. 80 Maiden Lane, New York, it ought to print them. As the News understands it, all that Mr. Henry has had to say on the subject of our foreign relations has been said upon the floor of the house. Has the Post any information to the contrary? If so, why doesn't it give it out?

This Is Street Sprinkler Weather

The street sprinklers were pretty busy at some points in Waco yesterday, and especially so by the rise in temperature incident to the bright shining sun which was unobscured by clouds after 9 o'clock yesterday.

Health Commissioner W. H. Cockcroft took the precaution several weeks ago to have the sprinklers worked over, well knowing that when they were needed they would be needed suddenly and badly. He put most of these dust killers in good condition, ready to fight for the health of the people.

RECEIVED RECENTLY AT THE PUBLIC LIBRARY

The following books have recently been added to the shelves of the public library. These books may be borrowed for two weeks without the privilege of renewal for two weeks more. The library is located at Twelfth and Austin streets. Residents of Waco may borrow books without cost. Visitors in the city are cordially invited to use the reading rooms and may borrow books for home use upon the deposit of $1.00 for fiction and $3.00 for non-fiction, the deposit returned upon the return of the books to the library.

THE REMEDY FOR BORDER TROUBLES

An incursion of border thieves and murderers across the Rio Grande moves our contemporary, the Times-Herald, to criticize the Mexican policy of the president and to commend the "Mexican policy" of Governor Colquitt. It overlooks the fact that President Wilson has done all that he could, with the agencies at his command, to police the border, and that the "action" of Governor Colquitt, which it commends, put about as much restraint on Mexican bandits as a silk necktie would impose on an elephant if wound about his snout. If any Mexican bandit ever heard of the coming of the state troops to Brownsville, he no doubt had a hearty laugh over the proceeding.

Any ranger and any sheriff along the Rio Grande could have informed Governor Colquitt—if he was so ignorant as not already to know it—that Mexican marauders are not in the habit of committing their depredations on the streets of Brownsville, or any other American city of that size. The truth is that, given a few hours to prepare for it, Brownsville could organize a volunteer force of its own, which could whip Villa's entire army, with Zapata's army thrown in for good measure.

As to the cattle thieves and assassins—they have been busy along the Rio Grande for the last fifty years, and will be busy for the next hundred years, unless both governments proceed to make a clean-up, as they ought to do.

The number of Americans killed by border thieves and cutthroats was as great during John Ireland's administration as it was during Colquitt's term of office, but nobody thought of declaring war on Mexico on that account. The depredations of these bandits have continued and will continue until they are thinned out. The border subject to their incursions extends for six hundred miles. The entire American army, as it now exists, could not thoroughly police one-half of this strip so as to prevent an occasional foray. The only remedy is a Mexican government that will wipe out the bandit tribe. If our government should attempt the slaughter which that would require, we would not only arouse all Mexico to hostile action, but a large part of our own people would soon cry out against the proceeding as sanguinary and inhuman.

Diaz understood the border bandit. His recipe was to shoot him on the spot, whether caught singly or collectively. Wilson cannot do that on the scale necessary to civilize the border. He is seeking to give Mexico a government that will run its own guillotine, and he is having almost as much opposition here as in Mexico in the execution of that laudable aim.

There are plenty of idlers in Mexico, and no small number of rustlers on the north side of the Rio Grande, who can be hired for a dollar a day to steal, kill and burn. This also adds to the problems of both governments.

DAILY SHORT STORY.

A DOG AND CAT AFFAIR.

By LOUISE OLIVER.

Copyright, 1915, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.

Madeline dipped the hot syrupy straw-berries out of the big kettle on to four large platters on the table, and turned out the burners of the gas stove. She surveyed her morning work proudly.

"Even mother couldn't do better," she smiled, "and this is my first attempt."

It was a hot day in the hot sun on the porch, and the extra moisture and the sun cooked berries will be fit for a king.

Lifting one platter at a time in her strong, white arms, she carried them to a bench on the back deck of the house—on every one of the four months.

The last platter placed in position for its sun bath, Madeline rested her elbows on the rail and looked over at the water. A cool breeze blew the moist little rings of hair about her eyes, and even in her very-stained gingham dress she was not by any means the least attractive object in a very beautiful landscape.

The spot chosen for anchoring the Crescent, the Cardwell's houseboat, was an arm or bayou of the beautiful Merrimack river. The water here stretched out like a lake and the trees all around grew close to the water's edge. On an island a short distance below, was Greenglade, a fashionable summer resort, with an immense hotel in its center.

Madeline, leaning over the water, heard a whistle and listened intently. "There's a steamer with the new arrivals at the dock. I wonder if Austin Maycourt, the much expected, is among them. Here I'm up to my ears in preserving berries for either to give as Christmas gifts to our relatives next winter, and every other girl within a radius of ten miles is stripping for the dance tonight." She tossed back the curls and stood up, looking at her wrist. "My, but it's hot when the wind stops. I believe I'll get into my bathing suit and have a swim to cool off."

In a few minutes a figure in a blue silk swimming suit and rubber cap climbed to the top of the rail, gave a little spring and disappeared like a knife blade under the smooth surface of the water. There was scarcely a ripple.

"Havoc!" cried a young man in flannels, who had just appeared on the island shore unseen by the water nymph. "That was a bully dive, by George! Here Krist, come back, sir!" to his dog. But Krist, a big wolf hound, was in the water headed for the boat and refused to turn.

Madeline, swimming under water, came up on the opposite bank, then turned and to her horror saw a dog swimming for dear life toward the boat. "My berries!" she cried in dismay and plunged instantly into the water again. "He gets there first he'll ruin them!" wondering why she had been so foolish as to set them so close to the floor. "I can just see him sticking his tongue into every one of the plates, the beast!" And she strained her muscles to extra effort.

But the dog won the race! Just at first, he didn't see the berries, but kept sniffing around for Taj, the Persian cat, that Madeline had locked in the dining room. But, going to have a bath, he returned to the porch, and lo, the berries! A long, red tongue shot out and he tasted, he lapped awhile, essayed another search for the cat, and then returned to sample another platter.

"Krist! Here, Krist! Come here, sir!" the man commanded from the shore. But Krist was having a good time and merely shook himself—a heavy shower of drops flying into the fruit-laden platters.

Madeline pulled herself up the steps and saw the devastation of her morning's work. She gave a little scream of dismay. "You nasty, horrid beast, get out of here! I'd like to kill you!"

"Krist! Here, Krist! And this time, being satisfied, Krist went."

Madeline went to the dance that night in a belligerent mood. "Now, dear," admonished her mother, who had returned, "be careful what you do and say. It's only a matter of a few berries anyway and what is that to having a reputation for being a—"

Madeline finished. "A termagant. Just because I'm honest and independent and say what I think, the other girls think I'm odd. Well, I won't be a hypocrite, and I get along just as well as they do!"

"So far you have, dear, but independence isn't a good thing always, nor intolerance. If we expect tolerance from others—"

"Oh, mother dear, pigeonhole that particular lecture, please. My motto is, 'Never do anything to require tolerance and you won't have to ask for it.' That man had no business to let his dog get away. I'm sure it was Austin Maycourt, and that only makes it worse. He's spoiled and petted wherever he goes, and he thinks the king can do no wrong. Good-by, mother, dear. Don't sit up. Come along, Boh!" to her brother. "Is the launch ready?"

That evening Austin Maycourt asked for a dance after he had been presented, and Madeline refused, saying she was tired.

"Well, I'd rather sit it out with you anyway, if I may," he suggested.

Madeline did not answer.

"I take it that silence gives consent," as he said down. "You see, I'm anxious to find out what my dog did today."

She told him briefly and forcibly; also what she thought of the whole matter.

"But you'll let me pay for the berries, surely!" he cried in consternation.

"You can settle with mother if you like, but I gave up a good game of tennis for those berries, and I can't see that you can help that much." And, do what he could, Austin could not make Madeline unbend.

"I'm in wrong here," he thought, and under some pretext or another he got away.

The next day Madeline, armed with her racket, turned her boat for the mainland. In the stern sat Taj, the cat. "You must be very good today, puss. Remember, you owe this vacation to the cut on your paw that I want the doctor to see. And while I'm playing tennis you must take a nap and be very quiet."

So Madeline played in a double set and Taj, with a bandaged foot, slept near by. But by and by he woke up, and, feeling like exploring, slipped away unnoticed by his mistress. A row of cottages stood across the street from the court and several windows were open. Taj leaped through one of these. Then Madeline missed him.

"Puss, here, puss! Kitty, kitty, kitty! Oh, I must find him," she cried.

She left the court and gave chase to her pet. In the middle of the road she met Austin Maycourt and bowed. But before they passed Taj appeared with something green in his mouth. Austin leaped for the cat and caught him, taking a dead bird from his mouth.

"It's Peter!" he cried, "my pet parakeet," he cried. "We let him run over the house because he was so tame. Poor little Peter!" stroking the lifeless little bunch of feathers.

Madeline wept softly as she touched the bird. "I'm so sorry! It's all my fault. I let my cat get away. Oh, what can I do to make up for it?"

"Be a little kind to me," suggested Austin promptly.

"I will," she promised. "Come over to the boat and I will give you a cup of tea."

THE TWO GREAT COMMANDMENTS.

(Matthew, 22:36-40)
Master, which is the great commandment in the law? Jesus said unto him, Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart and with all thy soul, and with all thy mind.
This is the first and great commandment.
And the second is like unto it, Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself.
On these two commandments hang all the law and the prophets.

A PAIR OF TWINS, LIKE AS PEAS.

Referring to a recent statement of the Post to the effect that Texas under the operation of local option has the best system of legal restraint that has yet been devised in this country for controlling the evils of the liquor traffic, as it reflects local sentiment, and local sentiment is a potential factor in law enforcement, the Waco News remarks: "The county of Harris did not put into effect the federal anti-narcotic law. Will the Post say it is not the federal anti-narcotic law, but the local sentiment of the county of Harris that suggests any material reason enforced in Houston? If the News entertains such views as their own answer, if the News entertains such views as are above indicated by implication, will it explain why the founders of our governmental system wrote into its organic law this language: 'The powers not delegated to the United States by the Constitution, nor prohibited to the states, are reserved to the states respectively, or to the people.'—Houston Post.

That evades the question. The Post's contention was that a restrictive law could only be enforced when it springs immediately from the people of the community to which it is applied. It concedes that the anti-narcotic law is vigorously enforced in Houston. That prohibits the sale of certain drugs.

Why can that law be enforced in Houston, and a law against the sale of whiskey be necessarily ineffective?

What advantage, as a drug, or what privilege, as a matter of morals or public welfare, has whiskey over the drugs denounced in the federal anti-narcotic law?

It is the contention of the Post that congress is without authority to adopt a police regulation?

Does it contend that the clause which it quotes gives congress control of the opium traffic, but reserves control of the whiskey traffic to the states?

The federal Mann white slave act prohibits, under severer penalties than any state has ever affixed, an offense against public morals. Does the Post hold that to be an invasion of state rights?

The most effective safeguards against swindling operations on a large scale are found in the federal statutes. Are these, in the view of the Post, unauthorized by the federal constitution?

The federal law takes cognizance of many evils and interdicts many crimes. Wherever it intervenes, it is, admittedly, a more potential force than the state.

In every great calamity, the national government is called upon for help.

Whenever an epidemic assumes alarming proportions, the appeal goes up to Washington for aid.

By common consent of all the people of all the states, it is the duty of the national government to act whenever the need is of such a nature as to be of national concern.

Does the Post dispute this test? If so, what test does it propose as the limitation upon national jurisdiction?

England, Germany, France and Russia have all recently declared that the alcoholic problem is the greatest question of a national nature with which they each have to deal.

Does the Post challenge the declarations of these governments upon this subject?

Does it admit that the drink problem is national in Europe, and claim that it is less serious in this country?

We are making no argument here, but merely trying to disclose the Post's view of the matter.

Each question here propounded may be easily answered. Make a clean breast of it, dear Post. Are you against all the federal statutes above referred to, and if not, how can you consistently oppose the passage of a federal law which would put whiskey under the ban?

Is liquor any better, or safer, or less offensive from any point of view than opium? If so, let us have the logic of the distinction.

That $100,000 libel suit looks a picnic lunch to Henry Ford since he squared up the bills for his peace expedition.

If Colquitt and von Jagow carried a single precinct in Texas last Saturday, the dispatches have failed to mention it.

Funeral directors, now in session at Houston, might find a good subject for practice by emblazing Jeff: McElenore's resolution.

Enough returns have been received from Saturday's conventions to show that Texas endorses Wilson in the ratio, approximately, of 16 to 1.

If we can find out where the next border raid will occur, and have Roosevelt on the spot, Mexico and the United States will pull off one joint debate worth the price of the admission.

Illinois displaces Iowa as the first corn producing state in the Union, and the best thing about it is that she has learned to put her corn to a much better use than she formerly did.

San Angelo has hired a city manager at a salary of $2500 and will try to cut politics out of its municipal business. The money will be well spent, if they get what they are paying for.

Mr. Henry has gone back to Washington, and while he is in that far country, he should step around to No. 80, Maiden Lane, N. Y., and get from Mr. Koelbe the conclusion of that epistolary romance begun by Governor Colquitt.

The war broke out without a herald, and it may conclude without a parley. When the two fighters lose their wind, all that is left for the bystanders is to pick up the marbles which were spilled out of their pockets.

Maximilian Harden, a noted contributor to the Berlin press, boldly defends Wilson's course, and declares he has always stood for real neutrality. What a contrast between this attitude of a German leader and thinker with that of some of our own petty politicians.

GERMANY MOVES FOR PEACE.

That the suggestion of a desire for peace contained in the late German note was intended to pave the way for negotiations upon that subject, is shown by the request of Emperor William, made to Pope Benedict, that he will join with the king of Spain in arranging a conference of the warring nations to consider plans for an immediate armistice.

It is not strange that Germany should seek the offices of the Roman pontiff as an intermediary for peace. Its ally, Austria, is the most Catholic of nations. Spain is also a Catholic nation. Upon the side of the allies, Italy, France and Belgium are largely Catholic.

Pope Pius announced, soon after the war began, that he would intervene for peace whenever called on, and it is known that his diplomatic agents have been at work in this behalf.

The emperor declares, in his note to the pope, the general terms upon which he will insist—"an early peace, without detriment to the legitimate aspirations of nationalities." There will come the rub.

The rearrangement of the geography of Europe will be no easy task for powers whose past jealousies have been multiplied by desperate conflict. But that will be a small matter compared with the big question, which will be one of disarmament.

The allies have pledged their faith to each other not to stop until the military power of Prussia is broken. Each fears that she seeks but a breathing moment to prepare for a more desperate struggle, and that another treaty would go the way of her treaty with Belgium. The replies which will be made by the allies to the invitation of the pope will no doubt be tempered with these fears.

All mankind should have something to say about the terms of peace. If the interests and wishes of the people who make up the world, who pay the price of war, shall be consulted, rather than the ambitions of kings and emperors, no country will ever more be able to run amuck without having all the world to fight.

It is not possible by treaty to prevent nations from going to war. Treaties have been broken too often to justify that hope. It is possible, however, to organize among the nations what would be equivalent to a Vigilance Committee, which would hold out the threat of such prompt and wholesome punishment to a recalcitrant member that no Caesar would ever again be able to drive his people to attempt world conquest.

Waco will have so many good reasons to present at Dallas today why the Knights of Pythias should make this their permanent state home that there will be only one side to the question when she concludes her remarks.

That bandit raid on Glenn Springs was bad enough, but let us not forget that more people have been murdered in Dallas within the last two years than were killed at both Columbus and Glenn Springs. If you want to know what Governor Colquitt did for the administration of law in Dallas, consult the pardon record.

If, as is charged, Mr. Colquitt has committed a wrong in dealing with certain parties outside of the state in an effort to secure, or to hold, the German-American vote in Texas, what must be said of the course of Congressman Henry? On the surface it would appear that both candidates have been engaged in playing the same game.—Houston Post.

If the Post knows of any letters written by Mr. Henry which parallel those written by Governor Colquitt to Mr. Koelbe of No. 80 Maiden Lane, New York, it ought to print them. As the News understands it, all that Mr. Henry has had to say on the subject of our foreign relations has been said upon the floor of the house. Has the Post any information to the contrary? If so, why doesn't it give it out?

This Is Street Sprinkler Weather

The street sprinklers were pretty busy at some points in Waco yesterday, called out specifically by the rise in temperature incident to the bright shining sun which was unobscured by clouds after 3 o'clock yesterday.

Health Commissioner W. H. Crockett took after a cold several weeks ago to have the sprinklers worked over, well knowing that when they were needed they would be needed suddenly and badly. He put most of these dust killers in good condition, ready to fight for the health of the people.

THE REMEDY FOR BORDER TROUBLES

An incursion of border thieves and murderers across the Rio Grande moves our contemporary, the Times-Herald, to criticize the Mexican policy of the president and to commend the "Mexican policy" of Governor Colquitt. It overlooks the fact that President Wilson has done all that he could, with the agencies at his command, to police the border, and that the "action" of Governor Colquitt, which it commends, put about as much restraint on Mexican bandits as a silk necktie would impose on an elephant if wound about his snout. If any Mexican bandit ever heard of the coming of the state troops to Brownsville, he no doubt had a hearty laugh over the proceeding.

Any ranger and any sheriff along the Rio Grande could have informed Governor Colquitt—if he was so ignorant as not already to know it—that Mexican marauders are not in the habit of committing their depredations on the streets of Brownsville, or any other American city of that size. The truth is that, given a few hours to prepare for it, Brownsville could organize a volunteer force of its own, which could whip Villa's entire army, with Zapata's army thrown in for good measure.

As to the cattle thieves and assassins—they have been busy along the Rio Grande for the last fifty years, and will be busy for the next hundred years, unless both governments proceed to make a clean-up, as they ought to do.

The number of Americans killed by border thieves and cutthroats was as great during John Ireland's administration as it was during Colquitt's term of office, but nobody thought of declaring war on Mexico on that account. The depredations of these bandits have continued and will continue until they are thinned out. The border subject to their incursions extends for six hundred miles. The entire American army, as it now exists, could not thoroughly police one-half of this strip so as to prevent an occasional foray. The only remedy is a Mexican government that will wipe out the bandit tribe. If our government should attempt the slaughter which that would require, we would not only arouse all Mexico to hostile action, but a large part of our own people would soon cry out against the proceeding as sanguinary and inhuman.

SPECIAL TRAIN OF K OF P'S TO LAND MEETING OFF TODAY

ARE ACCOMPANIED BY DELEGATION OF ELKS DALLAS BOUND.

Leaving in a fast special train over the Katy this morning at 7 o'clock, approximately three hundred Wacoans will go to Dallas with the avowed purpose of bringing to this city the grand lodge of the Knights of Pythias in 1917. Cowan lodge of this city, assisted by the Y. M. B. L., the Central Labor Council, the Rotary club and other boosting Wacoans, have been on the streets for the past few days in a whirlwind ticket campaign.

Waco Elks, about fifty in number, attired in their attractive white uniforms, have joined with the K. of P.'s and will assist them in making a showing for Waco. The Elks will attend the state gathering of the B. P. O. E. and will participate in the grand Elk parade this afternoon.

The Waco Pythian contingent will be joined at Hillsboro by about thirty or forty, who will work with this city in its fight for the 1917 state gathering. In view of the fact that the permanent home of the K. of P.'s in Texas will be chosen next year and since Waco has made the landing of the permanent home her goal, it is expected that the special delegation will make a warm fight. The excursionists go with the belief that they will land the 1917 meeting.

The special train will leave Dallas this evening at 8:30 and street cars will be waiting for the delegation on their arrival in Waco through an arrangement by H. E. Ross, local manager of the Southern Traction company.

Improvement Notes

A building permit was issued yesterday by Building Inspector S. P. Herbert for a very extensive addition to a building at Twelfth and Barron streets, No. 702 North Twelfth street, the improvement to be made by H. C. Risher.

The addition will consist of fourteen rooms, and there will be some remodeling of the present building, which has ten rooms, making the completed whole four six-room flats. The contractor on this improvement is J. C. Dumont, and the most of the lumber construction is placed at $5,000; this does not include the entire building complete.

Work started on the structure yesterday.

Yesterday workmen were busy tearing away the covering of the ornamental awning in front of the J. Levenski jewelry store on Austin street. The style of the awning will be changed and it will be made flat, it is thought that the appearance of the building will be enhanced by the change.

Fire Originates in Folding Bed

Fire which originated in a folding bed, from some cause unknown, at 5 o'clock yesterday morning badly damaged furniture in the rooms of Mrs. Anna Huff at 403 Washington street. She estimated the damage at $300, and had no insurance. Some damage was done the house, which belongs to John D. Mayfield, but this loss is covered by insurance. The fire originated shortly after Mrs. Huff arose yesterday morning, and had it not been that the blaze was near a fire station, where help could come quickly, the blaze would doubtless have been much more serious.

Get That City-Beautiful Idea: Plant Flowers

For the first time in the history of Waco, a city-wide flower contest has been put before the people. The citizens of Waco, being ever awake to a live issue, are rallying to the support of the movement and names are pouring in from every quarter. The high and low, the rich and the poor, are realizing their duty by registering their names, even though they do not expect to win a prize. By so doing they have endorsed the cause, have lent encouragement to a work which it is to be hoped will be succeeded each year by even a greater campaign for beautifying the city. Waco can, if she chooses, have as great a battle of flowers as is celebrated in our sister city of San Antonio, and there is no reason why this should not be done.

In Fort Worth, Dallas, Houston, Galveston and San Antonio the names of the leading citizens are being added to the list of entrants in these yearly flower contests.

The flower contest committee is especially desirous of the cooperation of the entire body of Waco's intelligent, influential citizenship, believing that through them the masses can be made to more readily understand the duty they owe their town and their less fortunate brother—the duty of encouraging him and setting him an example of civic pride, thus helping him to make his surroundings more attractive. Many of the foremost people have responded splendidly and there are many more who should join and help to make this a great campaign for a city beautiful.

Are you one of the helpful, progressive citizens whose name has been added to the list of entrants? If not, why? Your name in the list will inspire others to join us and to beautify premises that have never before been beautified. See the example and phone your name today—498 either phone, or to the business office of the Morning News.

Cotton Palace Board Will Raise $15,000 Guarantee

A committee consisting of W. V. Craver, W. J. Neale, J. J. Hutchison, John F. Wright and Louey Mikel were appointed last night at a meeting of the board of directors of the Cotton Palace to go before the general meeting of the Young Men's Business League tonight to ask the league to stage a campaign to secure a $15,000 operating expenses for the 1916 exposition. This guarantee is asked only to protect the exposition. In the past guarantees have been made, but the success of the expositions have not necessitated any of the guarantee to be used.

C. H. Cox reported that the insurance of the Cotton Palace, amounting to $72,000, had been placed locally. Heretofore the insurance on the Cotton Palace has been with outside companies.

It was decided to have a four-day encampment during the exposition for the winter of the thousands corn clubs of the counties of Texas conducted by the United States department of agriculture.

Stating that the costumes, signs and fixtures used by the Houston No-tu-oh were for sale, a letter was read from the secretary of the No-tu-oh.

Tom Bush was present at the meeting as a commissioner for his first time. He was elected previously to the meeting last night.

UNSOLVED HAMLET WILL BE PLAYED AT BAYLOR FRIDAY

Talented Miss Kearns Plays This Elusive Role in Open Air Performance.

Hamlet has aroused more criticism than any other character Shakespeare ever created. There have been more books written on Hamlet than on any other of Shakespeare's plays. All sorts of fanciful ideas have been suggested about the man Hamlet. But it must not be supposed that any idea, any magic phrase will solve the difficult problem presented by this play, or suddenly illuminate everything in it which is obscure. The obscurity itself, suggests Professor Dowden, is a vital part of the work of art, which makes the play so great, so full of life; and in that life there is much to elude and baffle inquiry. The very fact that one can never tell exactly what Hamlet is—nor can one tell whether he is sane or insane—makes it the most fascinating of all Shakespeare's dramas.

One critic—and he is a very great authority—suggests that Hamlet is mad—and another of equal celebrity says Hamlet's insanity is all pretense. So it is that the novice must go to the play and determine for himself which side he will espouse. The great appeal of the play, despite all its complexity and possibility for research and study—may be seen in the words of the new play which are being shown in the play, "Why I Expected to See Something That I Couldn't Understand and I Understood Everything That Was Said." It is this puzzling character that Miss Kearns will interpret on Baylor campus in the tentenary festival next Friday night.

Guard Officers Leave for Training Camp

The Waco detachment, Texas National Guard officers, left yesterday for Austin, where they will attend the officers' school, lasting about twelve days.

Captain P. A. Weathered and Captain William Torrence left by auto for Austin, going in Captain Torrence's car, expecting to reach Austin early in the afternoon yesterday.

Attending the Austin meeting were four commissioned and six non-commissioned officers from Waco.

Colquitt Dates Are Announced

Secretary W. J. Geisler of the O. B. Colquitt club of this county has received a list of the assignments of Mr. Colquitt in his speech-making tour for the United States senate for the next twelve days, as follows:

Waco Firemen Go to State Meeting at New Braunfels

Waco's fire boys are today in New Braunfels, attending the annual meeting of the Texas State Volunteer Firemen's association. The delegation was accompanied by Third Assistant Chief C. G. Peterson, as Chief Ed Fauerle could not get away this time.

As previously announced W. D. Rowell of Waco will make the race for secretary of the state association this time, and his chances seem flattering. The firemen who were delegates to New Braunfels were: Third Assistant Chief C. G. Peterson, A. S. Dapree, W. D. Rowell, Julius Genecey, S. J. Flood, J. B. Strother, Clarence Reid, Joe Pinto and Joe McGowan.

Efforts will be made to have the association select Waco as the permanent meeting place of the association.

Local Dentists Attend State Meet at Dallas

Among the local dentists who plan to leave this morning for the state dental society which meets in Dallas today and continues through Friday, are Dr. D. A. McCall and wife, Dr. J. F. Smartt, Dr. Frank Forman, Dr. J. O. Hall and Dr. J. W. Murphy. Several of the Waco dentists have clinics on the program and Dr. Hall is first vice president of the state association. Other Waco dentists who will probably go tomorrow are Dr. J. S. Conners, Dr. R. L. Shaw, Dr. R. H. Stewart and Dr. A. J. Beville.

SUFFRAGISTS WILL SPEAK IN OPEN-AIR ON AUSTIN TONIGHT

Coming in their auto, "The Golden Flyer," which is carrying them from New York on a southern cross-continent tour, Miss Nell Richardson and Mrs. Alice S. Burke, suffragists of national reputation, will be in Waco for a lecture this evening. The addresses will be delivered in the open air in front of Hotel Raleigh, at Eighth and Austin streets. The two touring speakers came to this city under the auspices of the Waco Equal Franchise league, of which Mrs. W. E. Spell is president.

The two suffragists came to Waco from Galveston and Houston, where they have made addresses, and will go from here to Dallas for the State Suffragist convention, which meets tomorrow. Both are said to be very eloquent speakers and a large crowd is expected to hear them. Their destination is California.

While in the city, Mrs. Burke and Miss Richardson will be the guests of Mrs. T. H. Claypool and Mrs. Carl Lovelace at the G. B. hall, Baylor university.

County Commissioners Will Sit as Board of Equalization

The county commissioners will sit as a board of equalization to hear complaints, if any there are, from property owners as to valuations placed on property, this sitting occurring from May 22 to May 25.

While in session yesterday the county commissioners appointed W. L. Mullins, Jr., trustee in school district No. 8.

The result of a school bond election in the Patton district, held recently, was declared, the result being eighteen votes for the school bonds and none against.

The result in the recent school tax election in district No. 4 was also declared, there having been 55 votes for and 19 against the proposition, the tax to be 15 cents on the $100 valuation.

SPECIAL TRAIN OF K OF P'S TO LAND MEETING OFF TODAY Y. M. B. L. BOOSTERS

ARE ACCOMPANIED BY DELEGATION OF ELKS DALLAS BOUND.

Leaving in a fast special train over the Katy this morning at 7 o'clock, approximately three hundred Wacoans will go to Dallas with the avowed purpose of bringing to this city the grand lodge of the Knights of Pythias in 1917. Cowan lodge of this city, assisted by the Y. M. B. L., the Central Labor Council, the Rotary club and other boosting Wacoans, have been on the streets for the past few days in a whirlwind letter campaign. Waco Elks, about fifty in number, attired in their attractive white uniforms, have joined with the K. of P's and will assist them in making a showing for Waco. The Elks will attend the state gathering of the B. P. O. E. and will participate in the grand Elk parade this afternoon.

The Waco Pythian contingent will be joined at Hillsboro by about thirty or forty, who will work with this city in its fight for the 1917 state gathering. In view of the fact that the permanent home of the K. of P's in Texas will be chosen next year and since Waco has made the landing of the permanent home her goal, it is expected that the special delegation will make a warm fight for Waco. The Elks go with the belief that they will land the 1917 meeting.

The special train will leave Dallas this evening at 8:30 and street cars will be waiting for the delegation on their arrival in Waco through an arrangement by H. B. Ross, local manager of the Southern Traction company.

CHALMERS TO MAKE SAME ROUTE AS THE Y. M. B. L. BOOSTERS

As a demonstration of the reliability and sturdiness of the Chalmers Six-Thirty car, D. C. Ryburn, manager of the Chalmers line of the McLendon Hardware company, has planned to send a car over the route scheduled for the first Y. M. B. L. excursion, making the same stops and time of the special Y. M. B. L. train.

Besides the driver of the car, there will be two representatives of the McLendon Hardware company and a representative of the auto section of the Waco Morning News. Full particulars of the trip will be given in the trade issue of the News Thursday, May 11th.

Important Session of Maccabees Tonight

There will be another important meeting tonight of the Maccabees of the city, at which time there will be further consideration of the matter of the proposed great camp for Texas, a matter which is just now attracting most earnest attention on the part of the Maccabees of the entire state.

The vote to see whether a state convention shall be held on the matter will be taken at the last meeting night in May all over Texas, and each meeting between now and then will try and stir up an interest in the big meeting the last of the month.

Waco is a candidate for the convention if held, and will also be a candidate for the great camp if established, owing to the fact that this city is situated just right for an organization of this character.

UNSOLVED HAMLET WILL BE PLAYED AT BAYLOR FRIDAY

Talented Miss Kearns Plays This Elusive Role in Open Air Performance.

Hamlet has aroused more criticism than any other character Shakespeare ever created. There have been more books written on Hamlet than on any other of Shakespeare's plays. All sorts of fanciful ideas have been suggested about the man Hamlet. But it must not be supposed that any idea, any magic phrase will solve the difficulties presented by this play, or suddenly illuminate everything in it which is obscure. The obscurity itself, suggests Professor Dowden is a vital part of the work of art, which deals, not with a problem but with a life; and in that life there is much to elude and baffle inquiry. The very fact that one can never tell exactly what Hamlet is—nor can one tell whether he is sane or insane—makes it the most fascinating of all Shakespeare's dramas.

One critic—and he is a very great authority—suggests that Hamlet is mad—and another of equal celebrity says Hamlet's insanity is all pretense. So it is that the novice must go to the play and determine for himself which side he will espouse. The great appeal of the play, despite all its complexity and possibility for research and study, may be seen in the words of the newsboy who after seeing Booth in the play, "Why I Expected to See Something That I Couldn't Understand—and I Understood Everything That Was Said." It is this puzzling character that Miss Kearns will interpret on Baylor campus in the tercentenary festival next Friday night.

County Commissioners Will Sit as Board of Equalization

The county commissioners will sit as a board of equalization to hear complaints, if any there are, from property owners as to valuations placed on property, this sitting occurring from May 22 to May 25.

While in session yesterday the county commissioners appointed W. L. Mullins, Jr., trustee in school district No. 8.

The result of a school bond election in the Patton district, held recently, was declared, the result being eighteen votes for the school bonds and none against.

The result in the recent school tax election in district No. 4 was also declared, there having been 55 votes for and 19 against the proposition, the tax to be 15 cents on the $100 valuation.

SUFFRAGISTS WILL SPEAK IN OPEN-AIR ON AUSTIN TONIGHT

Coming in their auto, "The Golden Flyer," which is carrying them from New York on a southern cross-continent tour, Miss Nell Richardson and Mrs. Alice S. Burke, suffragists of national reputation, will be in Waco for a lecture this evening. The addresses will be delivered in the open air in front of Hotel Raleigh, at Eighth and Austin streets. The two touring speakers come to this city under the auspices of the Waco Equal Franchise League, of which Mrs. W. E. Spell is president.

The two suffragists come to Waco from Galveston and Houston, where they have made addresses, and will go from here to Dallas for the State Suffragist convention, which meets tomorrow. Both are said to be very eloquent speakers and a large crowd is expected to hear them. Their destination is California.

While in the city Mrs. Burke and Miss Richardson will be the guests of Mrs. T. H. Claypool and Mrs. Carl Lovelace at the G. B. hall, Baylor university.

WHOLE HEAD CRUST OF ERUPTIONS

Had to Keep It Wrapped Up. Hair Fell Out. Looked Terribly. In Three Weeks Completely

HEALED BY CUTICURA SOAP AND OINTMENT

"The breaking out on my brother's head began in a small place like a rash and the parts around it were red and irritated looking. It kept spreading until his whole head became a crust of sore eruptions with matter in them, and we had to keep his head wrapped up. We had him treated but it did no good. He was very cross and fretful and his hair fell out gradually as the trouble spread. He looked terribly."

"A friend told us to try Cuticura Soap and Ointment. After we used them for two or three weeks he was completely healed." (Signed) Mrs. J. G. Altman, 10 Hampstead St., Charleston, S. C., July 26, 1915.

McLaughlin Escapes Electric Chair

By the Associated Press.

Little Rock, Ark., May 8.—Neal McLaughlin, convicted of assault and sentenced to die in the electric chair this week, escaped the death penalty today when Governor George W. Hays commuted his sentence to life imprisonment. McLaughlin was tried nearly two years ago in Franklin county for an alleged attack on a young woman.

Beaumont Man a Suicide.

Boston, May 8.—Edmond J. Emerson, superintendent of the Beaumont Electric Light and Power company, of Beaumont, Texas, killed himself by shooting at a local hotel today. No cause for his act was known here.

How to Be Slim.

If you are too fat and want to reduce your weight 15 or 20 pounds, don't starve and weaken your system, or think you must always be laughed at on account of your fat, but go to Morrison's Drug Store or any good druggist, and get a box of Oil of Kola capsules, take one after each meal and one before retiring at night. Weigh yourself once a week and note what a pleasant and reliable method this is for removing superfluous fat from any part of the body. It costs little, is absolutely harmless and a week's trial should convince anyone that it is unnecessary to be burdened with even a single pound of unsightly fat.

RANGERS INCREASED: GUARD NOT EXPECTED TO BE CALLED OUT

Special to the Morning News.

Austin, Tex., May 8.—The action by Governor Ferguson today in ordering the enlistment of fifty additional Rangers for service on the border and the statement by him that he probably will call for one hundred volunteers for Ranger service, is taken as an indication that the governor will not call out the Texas National Guard until a request for the services of the guard comes from Washington. If any word was received today from Washington by the Texas executive relative to calling out the Texas guard it was not made public.

The guard is being held in readiness and should an order come from Washington all branches of the Texas military organization could be on the move within a short time. Officers of the infantry companies who arrived here today to attend the school of instruction which opens at Camp Mabry tomorrow said that their companies were in good shape and were ready and anxious to move to the border. Some of these officers said unhesitatingly that the raiding of towns on the Texas border would continue until an adequate patrol was placed on the border.

The selection of the additional Rangers will be made by Ranger Captains Sanders, Fox and Ransom, who are to be in control of them in the operations. They have been advised of the authority given them and they are expected to have the new men in service within a few days.

Valuation Analysis of Texas Midland Reaches Commission

Special to the Morning News.

Austin, Tex., May 8.—The railroad commission today received from the interstate commerce commission a copy of the Texas Midland railroad by the valuation board created by congress to value every mile of railroad in the United States. With it came notice that Commissioner Prouty and valuation experts will be in Kansas City, Mo., on May 26 to hold a hearing to consider the basis used and results thereof in arriving at the valuation of the Texas Midland. Chairman Allison Mayfield and Chief Engineer R. D. Parker of the Texas commission will be present at the hearing. This is the first complete valuation made under the operation of the law of valuation created by congress. Railroad representatives and valuation experts from over the entire country will be present to hear the discussion relative to the basis used in the valuation of the Texas Midland. The experts are not agreed as to the measure of the many elements which enter into railroad valuations.

Guard Brownsville Jail.

Brownsville, Tex., May 8.—A high-powered electric searchlight today was focused on the county jail by the sheriff as a preparedness step to a surprise attack, as a result of rumors on both sides of the Rio Grande of an attempt to liberate Melquiades Chapa and Jose Buenrostro, Mexican bandits, to be hanged May 19, for the murder of two Americans. A detachment of soldiers also is guarding the jail.

YES, S. S. S. IS PURELY VEGETABLE; NATURE'S SAFE BLOOD TREATMENT

KNOWN FOR 50 YEARS AS THE BEST REMEDY FOR RHEUMATISM, CATARRH, SCROFULA, SKIN DISEASES.

Scientists have discovered that the forest and field are abundantly supplied with vegetation of various kinds, that furnish the ingredients for making a remedy for practically every ill and ailment of mankind. Medicines made from roots, herbs and barks which Nature has placed at the disposal of man are better than strong mineral mixtures and concoctions. Mineral medicines work dangerously on the delicate parts of the system, especially the stomach and bowels, by eating out the lining membrane, producing chronic dyspepsia and often entirely ruining the health.

S. S. S. is guaranteed to be a purely vegetable remedy. It is made entirely of gentle-acting, healing, purifying roots, herbs and barks, possessing properties that build up all parts of the system, in addition to removing all impurities and poisons from the blood. S. S. S. is a safe treatment for Rheumatism, Catarrh, Scrofula, Sores and Ulcers, Skin Diseases, Contagious Blood Poison and all disorders of the blood. It cleanses the entire system and it's permanent. Get S. S. S. at any drug store. S. S. S. is a standard remedy recognized everywhere as the greatest blood antidote ever discovered. If yours is a peculiar case, write to Swift Specific Co., Atlanta, Ga.

Packers Meeting With Cattlemen at Ft. Worth

By the Associated Press.

Fort Worth, May 8.—All of the big meat packers of the United States and a committee, representing the cowmen, began a conference here today, seeking to avoid any legislative or other inquiry of charges the cattlemen have made against the packers. The packers present are Louis Swift, Arthur Meeker, Edward Morris, Thomas Wilson and their attorneys. Texas cattlemen recently adopted resolutions demanding prosecution of the packers under the anti-trust laws.

Singing Convention at Blue Ridge

Special to the Morning News.

Marlin, May 8.—The annual singing convention at the Blue Ridge church attracted a large crowd of delegates Sunday from the singing schools over the country and great interest was shown. Twelve different leaders had charge of the singing during the day. The address of welcome was delivered by Miss Grace Miles of the Blue Ridge class, and Miss Williams of Mustang Prairie made the response. L. B. Kinard presided over the meeting. The annual election of officers resulted in the re-election of L. B. Kinard as president and J. C. Kennedy as secretary.

Paris Is Visited by $150,000 Fire

By the Associated Press.

Paris, Tex., May 8.—Fire destroyed the plant of the trans-continental cotton company here today. The fire, which broke out at noon, consuming 2,000 bales of cotton with a monetary loss of $150,000. Three thousand bales of cotton in another warehouse were endangered. The fire was extinguished before spreading in this direction.

Strange Mexicans at Corpus.

Corpus Christi, Tex., May 8.—Police today were investigating reports that about 200 Mexicans have arrived here. Friendly Mexicans are said to have told police that the strange Mexicans have held several secret meetings recently outside of the city. Preparations are being made to prevent any possible outbreak.

Shipping Cotton at Lorena.

Lorena, May 8.—Two hundred and twenty-five bales of cotton were loaded here Saturday and 225 more today. This constitutes the Williams cotton and is probably the last lot to be shipped until the new crop appears.

C. A. Westbrook a Grandfather.

Lorena, May 8.—A son was born yesterday to Mr. and Mrs. David L. Anderson at the home of Mrs. C. A. Westbrook Sr. Mrs. Anderson will be remembered among her friends as Miss Hallie Westbrook. Mother and son are doing nicely.

Coryell Commissioners Meet.

Gatesville, Tex., May 8.—The regular term of commissioners' court met today. They claim there is a great deal of business that will keep them in session all week.

Gatesville Revival to Continue.

Gatesville, Tex., May 8.—The revival meeting at the Methodist church that has been in progress for two weeks will continue through this week.

Man Shot at Bishop.

Corpus Christi, Tex., May 8.—Shelley Gore, 21, was shot and probably fatally wounded at Bishop today by A. L. Wimsatt, his brother-in-law, who later surrendered to officers. Family troubles were said to have been the cause.

CALVERT OFFICERS SET TWO MEXICANS

PRISONERS BELIEVED IMPLICATED IN ROBBERIES AT BREMOND AND KOSSE.

Marlin Negroes Shot as a Result of Sunday Baseball Game.

Special to the Morning News.

Marlin, May 8.—The robbery of the Peacock store at Highbank Sunday morning at 2 o'clock of sundry articles of merchandise totaling about $600 in value, has resulted in the arrest of two Mexicans from the coal mine settlement near Calvert by Calvert officers. These men were today examined with reference to robberies which have recently taken place at Bremond, Kosse and Calvert.

When apprehended Sunday afternoon one of the Mexicans gave directions whereby the goods stolen during the night could be located in the woods between Highbank and Bremond, and officers following the information discovered a lot of merchandise safely hidden away.

Unless the men are held in Calvert for trial in Bremond county in connection with other offenses, they will be brought to Marlin tonight by officers who left for that place today at noon.

A Sunday baseball game in the negro district yesterday resulted in a pistol dispute in which Jim Reed shot Joan Scott in the stomach and then was shot through the arm by an unknown marksman. Reed was locked up by constable Wren for his own protection and to await the results of the shot he made at Scott, who may be in a serious condition.

The following Waco people are registered at local hotels: J. T. Smith, J. J. Flanagan, C. W. Flanagan, R. C. Smith, Mrs. Sue Coney, Miss Flossie Kessler, Mrs. G. M. General Meeting of the Y. M. B. L. Comes This Evening

A discussion of the first trade trip of the year, which is scheduled for Thursday, will be one of the chief matters to come up at the general meeting of the Young Men's Business League this evening at 8 o'clock. The report of the white way committee will be one of the most important committee reports that will come up for consideration. Other important reports will be made by the convention committee and the special K. of P. committee. A large attendance of the league members is expected.

Baraca-Philathea City Union Meets

Last evening the Baraca-Philathea federation met with the classes of the Herring Avenue Methodist church with a large attendance.

A large number of the classes were represented, sending in the best reports on class work for the past months the union has ever received. C. H. Maehen led in a round table discussion when special stress was put on creating more interest in the local classes for the Baraca-Philathea city union. At the next meeting the union will have a social hour. Refreshments were served by the classes of the church.

Hair Often Ruined By Washing With Soap

Soap should be used very carefully, if you want to keep your hair looking its best. Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle and ruins it. The best thing for steady use is just ordinary mulsfied coconut oil (which is pure and greaseless), and is better than the most expensive soap or anything else you can use.

One or two teaspoons will cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, which rinses out easily, removing every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves the scalp soft, and the hair fine and silky, bright, lustrous, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get mulsfied coconut oil at any pharmacy for very cheap, and a few ounces will supply every member of the family for months.

Christian church Baraca-Philathea

The state secretaries have been faithful in rendering splendid service during their term of office, and last night a committee was appointed to raise money to defray part of the expenses of these secretaries to the world wide Baraca-Philathea convention, which meets in Minneapolis, in June.

Miss Marion Buck gave a splendid talk on faithfulness. An invitation was extended and accepted to have the union meet with the classes of the North Waco Christian church next month. After all business had been attended to everybody enjoyed the delightful social hour. Refreshments were served by the classes of the church.

Large Attendance Is Desired at Meet of Chamber Commerce

Regarding the general meeting on Wednesday night of the Chamber of Commerce for reorganization and rejuvenation, President H. M. Baine said yesterday:

"The Chamber of Commerce has had its subscriptions for maintenance doubled and trebled; the membership is sufficiently large, and there need be no worry on that score; the constitution is the best to be had after examining similar documents of commercial organizations from Maine to the Gulf of Mexico, and working three hours a day for three weeks; but what we want especially, and what we must have if we succeed as we ought to succeed, is for the members to show their personal interest by attending the meetings. Without this personal interest is manifested in this way we cannot hope to occupy the field that we ought to occupy with such a magnificent organization as we have built up; we must have the members attend and show their interest, else all the rest is in vain. I hope especially that the members turn out Wednesday night, elect officers who will take an interest and be sure that they secure directors who have the time and the inclination to serve. This will bring success, but this alone."

Sacred Heart Gives Entertainment Wed.

The annual entertainment of the juniors of the Sacred Heart academy will be given tomorrow evening in the convent auditorium. A program including a variety of numbers has been carefully prepared by the children. The program will begin at 8 o'clock and friends of the institution are cordially invited to attend.

CITY NEWS BRIEFS.

Rev. J. B. Rowan of this city has been called to the pastorate of the Baptist church. Rev. Mr. Rowan is a student of Baylor.

The small boy is beginning to put in his time playing ball now and on the vacant lots one can witness scenes of activity all over Waco.

The public schools of Waco are rapidly drawing towards a close for the present term, and the closing exercises will soon begin to engage the attention of many. The firemen of Waco and other Texas cities having volunteer fire departments are having a great time in New Braunfels today, and will for the next two or three days.

Arrangements are being made for Children's Day observance at the Austin Avenue Methodist church on May 21, the Sunday school at that time to be the storm center of interest.

Yesterday was one of the busiest days the farmers have had, and they have had some busy ones recently. The pretty weather caused hundreds of plows to run, while the hoes also were busy in many places.

Mrs. William Guggolz of Riesel has gone to Austin for treatment at the Pasteur Institute. It is thought that Mrs. Guggolz was possibly infected from the bite of a calf that had symptoms of hydrophobia.

That Waco is getting more popular daily as a convention center is amply attested these days. There is something doing every day now in the convention line, and many visitors are here, with more to come.

The regular monthly meeting of the Y. M. B. L. will be held tonight and at this time special attention will be given to the big trade trip to Comanche and intermediate points. Other matters also will have attention.

"I don't mind making fires in the winter time, but I'll tell you I don't relish making fires clear on into the summer of mornings," said a resident yesterday, referring to the large number of cool mornings which have been noted this spring.

The annual meeting of the Chamber of Commerce Wednesday ought to prove a drawing card for many. The officers are to be chosen at that time, and as the chamber has added a very important department to its activities in the traffic bureau, this makes the meeting Wednesday even more important.

The wheel made by Auditor Horace Pickett, showing the various funds of the city, their present status, the tax necessary to maintain the various departments, etc., has been blue printed by Pickett and is a concrete illustration of the city's financial standing, and in its relative place in the diagram. Persons interested in the condition of the city will find it a great aid to them.

H. P. Parmelee of the United States navy has just arrived to join his wife, with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Henry. His order for furlough was countermanded until Wilson received the German note. Mr. Parmelee comes direct from Washington City.

District Passenger agent J. W. Byars of the L. & N. railroad spent Sunday in Jacksonville, East Texas, and while there was entertained in the hospitable home of Dr. Strother of Alexander Collegiate Institute. Crops are looking fine in that section of the state and in fact all along the way, stated Mr. Byars.

WHY DINING CAR CHEFS PREFER KC BAKING POWDER

Those who have had cakes ruined by jarring the stove, slamming the oven door or a heavy footstep, may have wondered how the dining car chef can turn out such marvelous biscuits, hot breads and pastry when his oven is being incessantly jarred and jolted and shaken by the motion of the train.

To get pastry to raise and stay raised under these conditions, a baking powder must be used that continues to give off its leavening gas—that sustains the raise—until the dough is baked through.

Dining Car Chefs have found a baking powder exactly suited to their needs in K C and you will find it just as well suited to your requirements. K C is really a blend of two baking powders, one active as soon as moistened, the other requiring both moisture and heat to start the generation of leavening gas. No matter how moist and rich you make your cake, K C Baking Powder will sustain the raise until a crust is formed and all danger of falling is past.

K C Baking Powder is pure and healthful. It is guaranteed under all pure food laws, and is guaranteed to please you. And it is sold at a reasonable price—no baking powder should sell for more.

WHOLE HEAD CRUST OF ERUPTIONS

Had to Keep It Wrapped Up. Hair Fell Out. Looked Terribly. In Three Weeks Completely

HEALED BY CUTICURA SOAP AND OINTMENT

"The breaking out on my brother's head began in a small place like rash and the parts around it were red and irritated looking. It kept spreading until his whole head became a crust of sore eruptions with matter in them, and we had to keep his head wrapped up. We had him treated but it did no good. He was very cross and fretful and his hair fell out gradually as the trouble spread. He looked terribly. "A friend told us to try Cuticura Soap and Ointment. After we used them for two or three weeks he was completely healed." (Signed) Mrs. J. C. Altman, 10 Hampstead St., Charleston, S. C., July 26, 1915.

McLaughlin Escapes Electric Chair

By the Associated Press.

Little Rock, Ark., May 8.—Neal McLaughlin, convicted of assault and sentenced to die in the electric chair this week, escaped the death penalty today when Governor George W. Hays commuted his sentence to life imprisonment. McLaughlin was tried nearly two years ago in Franklin county for an alleged attack on a young woman.

Beaumont Man a Suicide.

Boston, May 8.—Edmond J. Emerson, superintendent of the Beaumont Electric Light and Power company, of Beaumont, Texas, killed himself by shooting at a local hotel today. No cause for his act was known here.

How to Be Slim.

If you are too fat and want to reduce your weight 15 or 20 pounds, don't starve and weaken your system, or think you must always be laughing at on account of your fat, but go to Morrison's Drug Store or any good druggist, and get a box of Oil of Kolin capsules, take one after each meal, and one before retiring at night. Weigh yourself once a week and note what a pleasant and reliable method this is for removing superfluous fat from any part of the body. It costs little, is absolutely harmless and a week's trial should convince anyone that it is unnecessary to be burdened with even a single pound of unsightly fat.

RANGERS INCREASED: GUARD NOT EXPECTED TO BE CALLED OUT

Special to the Morning News.

Austin, Tex., May 8.—The action by Governor Ferguson today in ordering the enlistment of fifty additional Rangers for service on the border and the statement by him that he probably will call for one hundred volunteers for ranger service, is taken as an indication that the governor will not call out the Texas National Guard until a request for the services of the guard comes from Washington. If any word was received today from Washington by the Texas executive relative to calling out the Texas guard it was not made public.

The guard is being held in readiness and should an order come from Washington all branches of the Texas military organizations could be on the move within a short time. Officers of the infantry companies who arrived here today to attend the school of instruction which opens at Camp Mabry tomorrow said that their companies were in good shape and were ready and anxious to move to the border. Some of these officers said unhesitatingly that the raiding of towns on the Texas border would continue until an adequate force was placed on the border. The selection of the additional Rangers will be made by Ranger Captains Sanders, Fox and Ransom, who are to be in control of them in the operations. They have been advised of the authority given them and they are expected to have the new men in service within a few days.

Valuation Analysis of Texas Midland Reaches Commission

Special to the Morning News.

Austin, Tex., May 8.—The railroad commission today received from the interstate commerce commission a copy of the Texas Midland railroad by the valuation board created by congress to value every mile of railroad in the United States. With it came notice that Commissioner Prouty and valuation experts will be in Kansas City, Mo., on May 26 to hold a hearing to consider the basis used and results thereof in arriving at the valuation of the Texas Midland. Chairman Allison Mayfield and Chief Engineer R. D. Parker of the Texas commission will be present at the hearing. This is the first complete valuation made under the operation of the board of valuation created by congress. Railroad representatives and valuation experts from over the entire country will be present to hear the discussion relative to the basis used in the numerous items of valuation. The experts are not agreed as to the measure of the many elements which enter into railroad valuations.

Guard Brownsville Jail.

Brownsville, Tex., May 8.—A high-powered electric searchlight today was focused on the county jail by the sheriff as a precautionary measure to prevent a surprise attack, as a result of rumors on both sides of the Rio Grande of an attempt to liberate Melquiades Chapa and Jose Buenrostro, Mexican bandits, to be hanged May 19, for the murder of two Americans. A detachment of soldiers also is guarding the jail.

YES, S. S. S. IS PURELY VEGETABLE; NATURE'S SAFE BLOOD TREATMENT

KNOWN FOR 50 YEARS AS THE BEST REMEDY FOR RHEUMATISM, CATARRH, SCROFULA, SKIN DISEASES.

Scientists have discovered that the forest and field are abundantly supplied with vegetation of various kinds, that furnish the ingredients for making a remedy, for practically every ill and ailment of mankind. Medicines made from roots, herbs and barks which Nature has placed at the disposal of man are better than strong mineral mixtures and concoctions. Mineral medicines work dangerously on the delicate parts of the system, especially the stomach and bowels, by eating out the lining membrane, producing chronic dyspepsia and often entirely ruining the health. S. S. S. is guaranteed to be a purely vegetable remedy. It is made entirely of gentle-acting, healing, purifying roots, herbs and barks, possessing properties that build up all parts of the system, in addition to removing all impurities and poisons from the blood. S. S. S. is a safe treatment for Rheumatism, Catarrh, Scrofula, Sores and Ulcers, Skin Diseases, Contagious Blood Poison and all disorders of the blood. It cleanses the entire system and it's permanent. Get S. S. S. at any drug store. S. S. S. is a standard remedy with other offenses, they will be brought to Marlin tonight by officers who left for that place today at noon.

Packers Meeting With Cattlemen at Ft. Worth

By the Associated Press.

Fort Worth, May 8.—All of the big meat packers of the United States and a committee, representing the cow men, began a conference here today, seeking to avoid any legislative or other inquiry of charges the cattlemen have made against the packers. The packers present are Louis Swift, Arthur Meeker, Edward Morris, Thomas Wilson and their attorneys. Texas cattlemen recently adopted resolutions demanding prosecution of the packers under the anti-trust laws.

Singing Convention at Blue Ridge

Special to the Morning News.

Marlin, May 8.—The annual singing convention at the Blue Ridge church attracted a large crowd of delegates Sunday from the singing schools over the country and great interest was shown. Twenty different leaders had charge of the singing during the day. The address of welcome was delivered by Miss Grace Miles of the Blue Ridge class, and Miss Williams of Mustang Prairie made the response. L. B. Kinard presided over the meeting. The annual election of officers resulted in the re-election of K. A. P. Kennedy as president and J. C. Kennedy as secretary.

Paris Is Visited by $150,000 Fire

By the Associated Press.

Paris, Tex., May 8.—Fire destroyed the plant of the trans-continental company here late this afternoon, consuming 2,000 bales of cotton with a monetary loss of $150,000. Three thousand bales of cotton in another warehouse were endangered but the fire was extinguished before spreading in that direction.

Strange Mexicans at Corpus.

Corpus Christi, Tex., May 8.—Police today were investigating reports that about 200 Mexicans have arrived here. Friendly Mexicans are said to have told police that the strange Mexicans have held several secret meetings recently outside of the city. Preparations are being quietly made to prevent any possible outbreak.

Shipping Cotton at Lorena.

Lorena, May 8.—Two hundred and twenty-five bales of cotton were loaded here Saturday and 225 more today. This constitutes the Williams cotton and is probably the last lot to be shipped until the new crop appears.

C. A. Westbrook a Grandfather.

Lorena, May 8.—A son was born yesterday to Mr. and Mrs. David L. Anderson at the home of Mrs. C. A. Westbrook. Mrs. Anderson will be remembered among her friends as Miss Hallie Westbrook. Mother and son are doing nicely.

Coryell Commissioners Meet.

Gatesville, Tex., May 8.—The regular term of commissioners' court met today. They claim there is a great deal of business that will keep them in session all week.

Gatesville Revival to Continue.

Gatesville, Tex., May 8.—The revival meeting at the Methodist church that has been in progress for two weeks will continue through this week.

Man Shot at Bishop.

Corpus Christi, Tex., May 8.—Shelby Gore, 21, was shot and probably fatally wounded at Bishop today by A. L. Wimsatt, his brother-in-law, who later surrendered to officers. Family troubles were said to have been the cause.

CALVERT OFFICERS GET TWO MEXICANS

PRISONERS BELIEVED IMPLICATED IN ROBBERIES AT BREMOND AND KOSSE.

Marlin Negroes Shot as a Result of Sunday Baseball Game.

Special to the Morning News.

Marlin, May 8.—The robbery of the Peacock store at Highbank Sunday morning at 2 o'clock of sundry articles of merchandise totaling about $600 in value, has resulted in the arrest of two Mexicans from the coal mine settlement near Calvert by Calvert officers. These men were today examined with reference to robberies which have recently taken place at Bremond, Kosse and Calvert.

When apprehended Sunday afternoon one of the Mexicans gave directions whereby the goods stolen during the night could be located in the woods between Highbank and Bremond, and officers following the information discovered a lot of merchandise safely hidden away.

Unless the men are held in Calvert for trial in Robertson county in connection with other offenses, they will be brought to Marlin tonight by officers who left for that place today at noon.

A Sunday baseball game in the negro district yesterday resulted in a pistol dispute in which Jim Reed shot Joan Scott in the stomach and then was shot through the arm by an unknown marksman. Reed was locked up by Constable Wren for his own protection and to await the results of the shot he made at Scott, who may be in a serious condition.

General Meeting of the Y. M. B. L. Comes This Evening

A discussion of the first trade trip of the year, which is scheduled for Thursday, will be one of the chief matters to come up at the general meeting of the Young Men's Business League this evening at 8 o'clock. The report of the white war committee will be one of the most important committee reports that will come up for consideration. Other important reports will be made by the convention committee and the special K. A. P. committee. A large attendance of the league members is expected.

Baraca-Philathea City Union Meets

Last evening the Baraca-Philathea federation met with the classes of the Harding Avenue Methodist church with a large attendance. A large number of the classes were represented, sending in the best reports on class work for the past months the union has ever received. C. H. Machen led in a round table discussion when special stress was put on creating more interest in the local classes for the Baraca-Philathea city union. At the next meeting fifteen or twenty minutes will be given to the union for submitting problems and solution for same, and classes who are confronted with difficulties are urged to report them to the union. The next meeting of the banner was won by the North Waco class.

Hair Often Ruined By Washing With Soap

Soap should be used very carefully, if you want to keep your hair looking its best. Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle and ruins it.

The best thing for steady use is just ordinary mulberry cocoanut oil (which is pure and greaseless), and is better than the most expensive soap or anything else you can use.

One or two teaspoonfuls will cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, which rinses out easily, removing every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves the scalp soft, and the hair fine and silky, bright, lustrous, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get mulberry cocoanut oil at any pharmacy; it's very cheap, and a few ounces will supply every member of the family for months.

Christian church Baraca-Philathea class.

The state secretaries have been very faithful in rendering splendid service during their term of office, and last night a committee was appointed to raise money to defray part of the expenses of these secretaries to the world wide Baraca-Philathea convention, which meets in Minneapolis, in June.

Miss Marion Buck gave a splendid talk on faithfulness.

An invitation was extended and accepted to have the union meet with the classes of the North Waco Christian church next month. After all business had been attended to everybody enjoyed the delightful social hour. Refreshments were served by the classes of the church.

Large Attendance Is Desired at Meet of Chamber Commerce

Regarding the general meeting on Wednesday night of the Chamber of Commerce for reorganization and rejuvenation, President H. M. Baine said yesterday afternoon:

"The Chamber of Commerce has had its subscriptions for maintenance doubled and trebled; the membership is sufficiently large, and there need be no worry on that score; the constitution is the best to be had after examining similar documents of commercial organizations from Maine to the Gulf of Mexico, and working three hours a day for three weeks; but what we want especially, and what we must have if we succeed as we ought to succeed, is for the members to show their personal interest by attending the meetings. Without this personal interest manifested in this way we cannot hope to occupy the field that we ought to occupy with such a magnificent organization as we have built up; we must have the members attend and show their interest, else all the rest is in vain."

"I hope especially that the members turn out Wednesday night, elect officers who will take an interest and be sure that they secure directors who have the time and the inclination to serve. This will bring success, but this alone."

CITY NEWS BRIEFS.

Rev. J. B. Rowan of this city has been called to the pastorate of the Dawson Baptist church. Rev. Mr. Rowan is a student of Baylor.

The small boy is beginning to put in his time at the pasteurizing plant. The public schools of Waco are rapidly drawing towards a close for the present term, and the closing exercises will soon begin to engage the attention of many.

The firemen of Waco and other Texas cities taking volunteer fire departments are having a great time in New Braunfels today, and will for the next two or three days.

Arrangements are being made for Children's Day observance at the Austin Avenue Methodist church on May 21, the Sunday school at that time to be the storm center of interest.

Yesterday was one of the busiest days the farmers have had, and they have had some busy ones recently. The pretty weather caused hundreds of plows to run, while the hoes also were busy in many places.

Mrs. William Guggolz of Riesel has gone to Austin for treatment at the Pastur Institute. It is thought that Mrs. Guggolz was possibly infected from the bite of a calf that had symptoms of hydrophobia.

That Waco is getting more popular daily as a convention center is amply attested every day now in the convention line, and many visitors are here, with more to come.

The regular monthly meeting of the Y. M. B. L. will be held tonight at 8 o'clock. Special attention will be given to the big trade trip to Comanche and intermediate points. Other matters will also have attention.

"I don't mind making fires in the winter time, but I'll tell you I don't relish making fires clear on into the summer of mornings," said a resident yesterday, referring to the large number of cool mornings which have been noted this spring.

The annual meeting of the Chamber of Commerce Wednesday ought to prove a drawing card for many. The officers are to be chosen at that time, and as the chamber has added a very important department to its activities in the traffic bureau, this makes the meeting Wednesday even more important.

The wheel made by Auditor Horace Pickett, showing the various funds of the city, and present status, the tax bureau, the various departments, etc., has been blue printed by Mr. Pickett and is a concrete illustration of the city's financial standing, everything being represented accurately and in its relative place in the diagram. Persons interested in the condition of the city will find it a great aid to them.

Sporting Comment

Last game of Oiler series today, 4:30.

The Athletics got out of the cellar.

Mike Finn was looking 'em over from the grandstand.

Three games in the Southern Association were won by the same score—4-3.

Two big ones went down yesterday—Grover Cleveland Alexander and Walter Johnson.

In addition to Waco's seven hits they drew six walks, but Tronzo was tight with the bases occupied.

Neither Ty Cobb nor Sam Crawford made any kind of a scratch yesterday except in the "AB" column.

The big league teams get their first real test this week, the western teams moving to the east and the eastern teams to the west for their first interregional series.

Joe Martina gave way to a pinch hitter in the eighth inning, and another winner and then had to see the game go when his successor allowed a run in the ninth.

Jimmie Clark looked pretty good behind the bat, at that. Last year he was the regular left fielder and some of the best hitters in the league were surprised to see him receiving.

The Shreveport-Santonio farce reminds old timers of a similar exhibition pulled in Austin some five or six years ago, when the Bronchos got peeved and allowed Austin to win 14 to 0.

Wohlleben pulled a nice throw in the eighth, with two out and the third occupied he fell headlong. He made the throw while flat on the ground, and it was perfect. Sage completing the out.

Ollie Jost, with his big voice and his unending good humor, held down the box coaching job unopposed for the full ten innings. The big Waco boy is a general favorite and the crowd likes to "ride him." They had scant opportunity yesterday, however.

Of course all the races are young, but it begins to look as if the Dodgers and the Indians are not false alarms.

The latter looks particularly good. While Buehler, Roth and Smith, baseball critics are beginning to agree that the Cleveland outfield is the greatest in either league, not excepting Jennings great trio.

The Naves have been hanging on fairly well in spite of the Bittie injury and the Cook experiment. The left fielder has been greatly missed, both in the sun game and as a last of man. While Buehler is a mighty all-fired good 'un, Bittie was clouting at the rate of 333 when hurt and while high is doing the best he can and giving the job all he's worth, it must be admitted he is not an outfielder. And, for some strange reason, he has slumped terribly since being sent to the outer works. Watch 'em go, though, when the little 'un gets back there.

JOHNSON HITS AND CONTROLS

Happy Right Fielder Furnishes Most of Amusement, Also a Home Run.

The heat got Happy Jack Johnson yesterday—the heat and Uncle Jimmie—and the Beaumont right fielder furnished most of the excitement of the evening. At least Ollie Jost ventured the opinion that the heat had him.

Jack had a third strike called on him in the seventh inning and while playing his position in Waco's half he pulled all the old stuff—yipped like a stewed cowboy, shot craps as if he was betting the limit, stalked imaginary fly balls, gave exhibitions of the late dances—the pollywog flop and the quazwoop twaddle—in fact Jack cut up scandalous.

He made 'em laugh, too—made everybody in the park laugh but one man and he didn't have a laugh on him. The laughter one was Mike Finn.

In passing, it may not be amiss to put out a query as to how long Johnson will last with that sort of stuff when he bumps into Wilson Matthews.

But while Jack put on the jolly show and did a specialty between acts, the old boy was like a duck with the big stick individually and by his own little efforts he copied the game for the Oilers 3 to 2 in ten innings. In the third round he walked a home run over the right field fence and in the tenth he started the winning run with a long clean double to deep center.

BOTH TEAMS SEEP TO LOCK THE OLD PEP.

It was the first really sizzling hot day of the season and neither team seemed to give a care whether it won or not. The boys weren't loafing on the job exactly, they just seemed to lack the old pep. Sage was hit hard, five of the Oilers hits being for extra bases, long drives, too, three doubles, a triple and a homer. Troutman was only one of Waco's hits scattered, but had little trouble in working out of what looked like tight holes. Twice Ollie Jost had three on one out and scored but one run.

Waco started the scoring in the second when Malmquist and Wohlleben singled in succession after Grubb had filled out. Reilly drew a walk, filling the bases. Sage bounced a high one at Holt and Malmquist scored. Tanner retired the side by grounding out to short.

Beaumont got the first man up, headed Coach Jost's admonition to "touch 'em all," by hitting the ball over the right field fence.

Sage stalled off stiff challenges in the fourth and sixth innings and in the fourth half of the sixth Waco scored on a walk to Conwell, an error by Schwind, a single by Grubb that filled the bases and Malmquist's second hit.

OILERS TIE SCORE IN EIGHTH INNING.

In Beaumont's half of the eighth, with Ollie Jost at bat, the Oilers doubled to left and scored on Dodd's single, the latter being thrown out at second by Conwell when he tried to stretch on the hit.

James opened the eighth for Waco with a single and was sacrificed by Grubb, but Malmquist grounded to third and Wohlleben struck out. In the ninth after Reilly had gone out Sage drew a walk, went to Ollie Jost's infield out, but Coyle could not deliver.

The game was won in the tenth. Johnson, after fouling several hits over Coyle's head for two bases, was sacrificed to third by Schwind and scored on McMahon's long sacrifice fly to left. Conwell made a good catch on the chance.

MARKETS

COTTON

New York.

By the Associated Press.

New York, May 8.—A further advance at the opening of the cotton market today carried July up to 12.55 or approximately 1/2 cent a pound above the low level of last month. There was heavy realizing around these figures, however, and the market later sagged off with July selling down to 12.72 and with the general list closing barely steady at a net decline of 1 to 5 points.

Liverpool was not fully up to expectations, but made a very good showing and the afternoon started firm at a net advance of 3 to 4 points. The buying was quite as active and excited as it had been on Saturday, with May selling at 12.51 and October at 13.02 on or immediately following the call. This carried all the active months about 10 to 13 points above Saturday's closing figures and the market net heavy selling while there also seemed to be the latter reactionary sentiment. The latter was encouraged by the rapidity and extent of recent advances and became rather more active as prices sagged from the best. Trade interests were big buyers, and the scale, down particularly in the case of July, while fresh buying seemed to be steadily reaching the ring through houses with Wall Street, western and southern connections. This caused some irregularity and there were frequent slight rallies, but profit-taking continued and the market reached the lowest point of the day in the late trading under heavy Wall Street selling. May eased off to 12.64 and October to 12.88 and closing prices were at the lowest, although the trade interests continued to be large buyers late in the afternoon. Private cables reported a small but steady market in Liverpool and moderate selling here by houses with Liverpool connections was supposed to be based on the difference.

New Orleans.

By the Associated Press.

New Orleans, May 8.—After a bulge around the opening of the price of cotton on this market fell off today under realizing by local buyers. This selling apparently was stimulated largely by favorable weather over the belt.

Late in the day prices were not marked up in accordance with private forecasts and the trading of the last half hour saw the most active months go 1 to 3 points under the last quotation of Saturday.

The close was at 1 point up to 2 points down net. At the best of the day the prices were 9 to 11 points over Saturday's final.

Total spot sales for the day were 6205 bales but the market was quoted unchanged which led to the conclusion by local traders that holders of spots were more willing to meet the market.

COTTON

New York, May 8.—A further advance at the opening of the cotton market today carried July up to 12.85 or approximately a cent above the low level of last month. There was heavy realizing around these figures, however, and the market later sagged with July selling down to 12.72 and with the general list closing barely steady at a net decline of 1 to 5 points.

Liverpool was not fully up to expectations, but made a very good showing and the afternoon started firm at a net advance of 1/4 point. The buying was quite as active and excited as it had been on Saturday, with May selling at 12.75 and October at 12.02. The market immediately following the call. This carried all the active months about 10 to 13 points above Saturday's closing figures and the market met heavy selling while there also seemed to be considerable reactionary sentiment. The latter was encouraged by the chaotic and extent of recent advances and became rather more active as prices sagged from the best. Trade interests were big buyers on a scale down, particularly in the case of July, while fresh buying seemed to be steadily reaching the ring through houses with private connections. This caused some irregularity and there were frequent slight rallies, but prohibiting continued advance. The market reached the lowest point of the day in the late trading under heavy Wall street selling. May eased off to 12.64 and October to 12.59 and closing prices at the low-est although the trade interests continued to be large buyers late in the afternoon. Private cables reported small but steady market in Liverpool and moderate selling here by houses with Liverpool connections was supposed to be based on the differences.

New Orleans, May 8.—After a bulge around the opening of the price of cotton on this market fell off today under realizing by recent buyers. This selling apparently was stimulated largely by favorable weather over the belt.

The day's disappointment was manifested that spot prices were not marked up in accordance with private forecasts and the closing of the last half hour saw the most active months go to 1 to 3 points under the last quotation of Saturday.

The close was at 1 point up to 2 points down net. At the best of the day the prices were 2 to 11 points over Saturday's final.

Total spot sales for the day were 6205 bales but the market was quoted as being tight and led to the conclusion that bearish traders that holders of spots were more willing to meet the market.

DRESS

Of the Making of Sport Coats There is No End and They Will Be Worn Regardless of the Weather, as Furs Were Worn Last Summer.

New York, May 8.—In the great cities the exodus to the country takes place the last of April, and the fashionable women are the ones who lead in the wearing of smart sport clothes from now until the first of November. This is the first season that the dressmakers have not departed in the recently published custom. Heretofore there was little money spent for expensive goods and many of the countrywomen, and even Newport and Bar Harbor had tried to discard the dressing for the linen skirts and gay sweaters that claimed informal life.

Today the dressmakers smile because the wearing of these sport clothes is universal. It has spread out of the fashionable set down through all the classes of American summer life, and it has gained in prestige and variety in an astounding manner.

The designers have invented dozens of garments in the name of sport clothes that are now called necessities, or, at least, they appear so, and every woman is tempted to buy them under the excuse that she must have them.

THE GAYEST OF TOP COATS.

The vivid sweater is no longer a novelty, but the variety, expense and popularity of these garments has put them on the pinnacle of fashion. It is told of the young baroness who had today under her dress a sweater in her possession this spring, each one of which is an enchanting bit of color, and there are smart young men in society over here who own twenty of these sweaters and who have huge closets built into their country houses for nothing but these garments and sport coats.

Once upon a time a woman considered herself lucky if she owned a top coat and a sweater, and even the most fashionable women did not indulge in more than two sweaters, but today they own numbers of them in any smart woman's wardrobe and are used to give a new color scheme to the costume every day.

That fabric, which was run to the ground last year, is not even among the "also rans" this year.

The majority of these coats were inspired by the French couturiers as the sweaters in their recent brilliant form were brought to America from the last season at Deauville.

Splendid Laxative for Elderly People

Has Been Prescribed by Well-Known
Physician for Many Years.

MRS. RACHEL ALLEN

The infirmities of age are especially manifest in a tendency to constipation, and call for treatment that will afford relief in an easy, natural manner. The rapid action of cathartic remedies and purgatives that shock the system should be avoided, more especially as the relief they offer is only temporary and is usually more than offset by disturbance to the vital organs caused by their violent action.

Nearly thirty years ago Dr. W. B. Caldwell, Monticello, Ill., prescribed a compound of simple laxative herbs that has since become the standard household remedy in thousands of homes. It acts easily and gently, yet with positive effect, without griping or other pain or discomfort. Mrs. Rachel Allen, Galesburg, Kans., is seventy-one years old, and after using a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, wrote that it had done her a world of good and that she intends to keep it in the house always.

Druggists sell Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin for fifty cents a bottle. It is a splendid remedy and should be in every home. A trial bottle, free of charge, can be obtained by writing to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 454 Washington St., Monticello, Ill.

COUNTY POLITICAL CONVENTIONS MEET AT 2 P. M. TODAY

The county democratic convention will assemble at 2 o'clock this afternoon at the city hall in Waco, the chief business being the selection of delegates to attend the state convention in San Antonio May 23. The convention will be called to order by chairman H. E. Brown of Crawford.

At the same hour the county republican convention will be held in the justice court room, first floor of the court house. The republicans will also select delegates to attend their state convention.

It is expected that politics will begin to warm up after the holding of the state conventions.

ROBINSON'S DELEGATES.

At the precinct democratic convention held in Robinson Saturday night the following were elected to go as delegates to the county convention in Waco Tuesday, May 9: W. E. Stovall, J. W. Lennox and J. L. Harding, all of Waco, were elected yesterday.

WATER WORKS MEET IS WELL ATTENDED

SOUTHWESTERN CONVENTION
AFTER NEXT YEAR WILL
ROTATE AMONG STATES.

MANY PLEASURE FEATURES

Many Practical Talks Today With a
Banquet and Dance Tonight
at the Raleigh.

WHAT THE DELEGATES DID.

Took Mayor Dollins' big key to the city with profuse thanks. Passed an amendment to constitution that convention state should rotate among states alphabetically.

Hear R. H. Rogers tell of Waco's progress in the waterworks line. Listened to a talk on the evolution of brass in connection with water equipment.

Enjoyed on open air festival at the new filtration plant.

Attended to annual routine business.

The passage of a resolution which states that annual conventions of the Southwestern Waterworks men will be held in rotation in the seven states represented in the convention followed a discussion yesterday afternoon at the annual convention which opened here yesterday morning. More than one hundred delegates are in attendance and various opinions were expressed in regard to the best methods of determining where the annual conventions will be held.

An amendment to the resolution which unanimously adopted states that the sense of the resolution shall not take effect until April 17, 1917, which will necessitate the convention here naming the next convention states as well as city. The resolution states that the conventions will select the states alphabetically, which will mean the following schedule will be carried out: 1918, Arkansas; 1919, Kansas; 1920, Louisiana; 1921, Missouri; 1922, New Mexico; 1923, Oklahoma; and 1924, Texas. Convention delegates will determine what cities will be chosen in the various states.

It is expected that Fort Worth and Kansas City will be the two of the leaders that will endeavor to land the next convention. Joe Hines, representing the Chamber of Commerce of Fort Worth, made a strong appeal for the convention yesterday afternoon. He was enthusiastically received by the delegates. Kansas City boosters have intimated their intention of working hard to secure the next convention.

Today's program opened at 9:30 o'clock at the Hotel Raleigh, in the gold room. Visiting ladies will be given an automobile ride over the city at this hour, and at 2:30 o'clock will inspect local department stores, special arrangements having been arranged for their benefit.

ROUTINE BUSINESS IN AFTERNOON SESSION.

Regular routine was taken up at the afternoon session, which started at 2 o'clock. President Jesse Shaw appointed Joe Gerrity of Muskogee, Okla., sergeant-at-arms, and he introduced the delegates who were not present at the morning session. Joe Hines, representing the Fort Worth Chamber of Commerce, was introduced, and made a brief talk in which he assured the convention that Fort Worth welcomed the waterworks men and would be glad to get the next convention. He said that Fort Worth tried for the 1916 convention and lost but they made a splendid selection in going to Waco. If the convention decides to meet in Waco next year, the delegates, as was presented in a resolution at the morning session, he said that Fort Worth would patiently wait for the convention to come back to Texas, the state where he would feel honored at having the waterworks men as their guests. He favored the democratic spirit of having the convention meet in the other states, but said if this did not carry then Fort Worth extends an invitation for the 1917 meeting. At the end of his talk, President Shaw thanked him for his invitation to the convention.

REPORT OF WACO'S PROGRESS IS READ.

R. H. Rogers, representing the Waco water commission, read a detailed report of the progress made by the Waco waterworks in the last few years. The report told of the steps that led up to the organizing of the water commission and the building of the splendid filtration plant on the Riverside Drive. That the installing of water meters here had proved a big reduction in the water consumption in Waco, was stated in the report.

As a token of appreciation for the services rendered the convention by President Shaw, Chas. H. Ade, representing the supply men, presented him with a beautiful bouquet of flowers. President Shaw made a brief talk, thanking the supply men for their remembrance.

Joseph A. Gerrity of Muskogee, Oklahoma, of the Glauber Brass company of Cleveland, Ohio, gave a talk on the selection of brass goods in which was brought out the evolution of brass in the last few years. A discussion of this subject followed.

An amendment to the resolution in regard to holding the conventions in the states in rotation was adopted. The amendment states that the resolution shall not take effect until April 17, 1917. The resolution also passed and will mean that starting next year the convention will move alphabetically around the states of the organization. As the resolution does not take effect until April 17, the next convention will have to be selected before the convention closes here.

Telegrams were read from H. L. McDuff of Globe, Ariz.; J. V. Bennett of Oklahoma City; and H. M. Lofton of Chattanooga, Tenn., expressing their regret at being unable to attend the convention.

DELEGATES ARE PROGRAM OF ENTERTAINMENT:

At the close of the business session the delegates were taken in automobiles to view the city parks and inspect the filtration plant. At the filtration plant a lunch was served and several musical numbers given. Visitors were guests of the Amicable Life Insurance company for a bird's-eye view of the city from the roof of the twenty-two-story structure.

Last night delegates and their friends enjoyed a plunge in the Natatorium pool as the evening's pleasure feature.

WELCOMES GIVEN AT MORNING SESSION.

With the exception of A. A. Haynes of Texarkana, fifth vice president of the association, all officers of the organization were present when the opening session was held yesterday morning in the gold room of the Hotel Raleigh.

Officers present were: Jesse Shaw of Topeka, Kan., president; vice presidents, L. H. Gray of Lufkin, J. D. Hudkins of Roswell, N. C., J. W. May of Brookfield, Mo., C. C. Clothier of Guthrie, Okla., L. I. Kahn of Shreveport, E. L. Fulson of Waco, secretary and treasurer, and Rev. P. A. Heckman of Temple, chairman.

Following the invocation which was pronounced by Rev. Father Heckman of Temple, President Shaw introduced Mayor John Dollins. In his address of welcome Mayor Dollins discussed the importance of such a gathering and said Waco was glad and felt honored at having representatives of seven of the southern states gather here. He presented the convention with a large wooden key, about two feet in length, which he termed "the key to the doors of Waco."

President Shaw responded to the words of welcome and said that he was satisfied that the gathering was meant for the delegates and that they were glad to receive it.

In the absence of R. W. Finley of Austin, A. M. Burgess of Galveston responded to the welcome on his behalf. He assured the delegates that the Waco delegation that the visitors from out of town could not feel strangers in a city where they had received such a warm welcome and where such a feeling of generous hospitality existed.

A five-minute recess was called in order that all delegates could meet each other. Miss Minnie Owens of Waco was introduced as the official Waco representative for the convention, to assist Secretary Fulson. Mr. Fulson then called the role of officers and was followed by the president's address by Mr. Shaw.

PRESIDENT SHAW PAYS TRIBUTE TO LATE S. J. QUAY.

In impressive language Mr. Shaw paid tribute to the memory of Samuel J. Quay of Waco and A. A. Haynes of Texarkana, two members of the organization who had recently died. He recommended that resolutions of sympathy be drawn up during the convention and included in the minutes of the meeting in honor of the men who had been prominently connected with waterworks departments of their respective cities for a number of years.

Thanks were extended the supply men by Mr. Shaw for their valuable assistance in the past conventions and urged that all members of the association together with the supply men be one united band to work for the betterment of the waterworks.

Rev. Father Heckman of Temple recommended that a memorial committee be appointed to draw up the resolutions of sympathy in honor of S. J. Quay and Mr. Haynes. President Shaw said the committee would be appointed later on in the convention.

E. L. Fulkerson of the Waco waterworks, secretary of the organization, read the report of finances which showed that the receipts were $1,016.75, and disbursements $1,016.75. He said there were 153 members of the association in good standing.

Reports of the constitution and by-laws committee were adopted section by section with very few minor amendments. This was followed by a discussion of the resolution in regard to the method of naming the convention cities. It was the opinion of some of the delegates that because the organization had started in Texas and had been held here almost every year, the interest in it as they really did not know what a big organization it was. It is believed that the resolution will solve the question of how to decide on the convention states.

BANQUET AT RALEIGH FEATURES TODAY'S PROGRAM.

MISSIONS ARE HOPE OF MEXICAN PEOPLE

SPEAKER AT FIRST SESSION OF
TEXAS CHRISTIAN MISSIONARY
CONVENTION MAKES PLEA.

PRESIDENT MASON SPEAKS

Initial Session Well Attended—Bible
School and Women's Work Feature Today's Program.

Bringing a message from Mexico, picturing the country in a state of devastation with its ignorant inhabitants eager for enlightenment, Miss Emma Irelan, missionary to Mexico, gave an address last night at the opening session of the Texas Christian Missionary convention. Rev. R. D. Rogers introduced the president of the association, Harry Mason of Vernon, who delivered the president's address before the large audience, many of which are from out of the city.

Sessions for the convention will be held in the Central Christian church which was remodeled only a few months ago. The church has made extensive plans for receiving the delegates and the interior of the building has many scripture verses appropriate to the occasion, on the walls. Prayer and praise service was led by J. C. Welch of Bryan and S. W. Hutton of Fort Worth led the music. Mr. Hutton will be the music leader during the entire convention.

BANQUET FOR WOMAN'S MISSION BOARD TOMORROW.

Announcement was made that a banquet to the Christian Women's Board of Missions would be held tomorrow afternoon at 5:30 at the Huaco club. Those intending to attend the banquet were urged to purchase their tickets not later than tonight. The members of the C. W. B. M. will meet at the church at 5 o'clock and go to the Huaco club in special cars. There will probably be an automobile ride given the visitors either this afternoon or tomorrow afternoon through the city.

Rev. F. N. Calvin, pastor of the church, announced that more definite arrangements be made later on.

In her address Miss Irelan pictured Mexico as a country with its treasures depleted, buildings ruined, fields unploughed, roads unkept and the people in distress. She said that in some sections of the country the poor suffered almost indescribable ills because of the conditions resulting from the wars. Members of the working class of people received small wages and that they were often handicapped by dependent relatives of friends, she said. Following the cloud of war, was the cloud of financial ruin, the cloud of disease but worse than all, the cloud of ignorance.

ONLY MISSIONARIES REALLY HELPING MEXICANS.

No adequate preparations for the education of the present generations were being made, Miss Irelan said. Only the missionaries are lending the help that is really counting. She said that there was a great field to cover and that the people should not misjudge the Mexican because of the recent border troubles and the strife in Mexico. She said that there was a higher type of the Mexicans and that ignorance was largely due to the conditions existing there now.

Statistics were given by Miss Irelan which showed that only a small number of the citizens of many of the cities in Mexico were able to read or write. The forces to educate the population were limited she said, and appealed to the audience to help extend the missionary work and uplift Mexico.

PRESIDENT MASON SAYS IS AGE OF OPPORTUNITY.

America is facing an age of opportunity, the time is at hand to prepare, stated Mr. Mason when he delivered the president's address. He said that at the end of the European struggle America would find hundreds of immigrants coming over and that the time to get ready to receive them is now.

"America's Task Our Task," was Mr. Mason's address. He said that America was standing upon the threshold of a great career. "We are living in a new and exceptional age," he said, "an age of American opportunity to set an example to the nations of the world in piety and Christian living. In this period of turmoil and strife when the faith of whole nations is being shaken, is our time to lead out in Christian faith by devotion and loyalty to Christ. The world is in a receptive mood to receive the word of God. The prince of darkness is standing with outstretched hands to a sad and weary world saying, 'Come, I will give you rest.'"

In his closing remarks he spoke of Christ's everlasting call to men. He pictured the Savior as the greatest of the ages and the pages of history, a man who in three years gave to the world a new law and a new religion, and the only man in the history of the world whose character was perfect.

Local Delegates Go to Episcopal Meet at Houston

Several delegates and representatives of the Episcopal church will leave Waco today, some having left last night, for Houston, to attend the annual meeting of the Episcopal council.

Rev. W. P. Witsell and a number of his members will attend this gathering in Christ church, Houston. Among those who have either gone or will go from Waco in addition to Rector Witsell, are C. L. Johnson, A. J. Dorsett, J. A. Ramsey, Baker Hoskins.

The Woman's Auxiliary also meets in Houston at the same time, and among those attending this gathering from Waco will be Miss Minnie Taylor and Mrs. A. J. Dorsett. They also attend the council meeting from Waco.

Grandmother's Medicines

Our grandmothers were

Splendid Laxative for Elderly People

Has Been Prescribed by Well-Known
Physician for Many Years.

The infirmities of age are especially manifest in a tendency to constipation, and call for treatment that will afford relief in an easy, natural manner. The rapid action of cathartic remedies and purgatives that shock the system should be avoided, more especially as the relief they offer is only temporary and is usually more than offset by disturbance to the vital organs caused by their violent action.

Nearly thirty years ago Dr. W. B. Caldwell, Monticello, Ill., prescribed a compound of simple laxative herbs that has since become the standard household remedy in thousands of homes. It acts easily and gently, yet with positive effect, without griping or other pain or discomfort. Mrs. Rachel Allen, Wessburg, Kans., is seventy-one years old, and after using a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, wrote that it had done her a world of good and that she intends to keep it in the house always.

Druggists sell Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin for fifty cents a bottle. It is a splendid remedy and should be in every home. A trial bottle, free of charge, can be obtained by writing to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 454 Washington St., Monticello, Ill.

COUNTY POLITICAL CONVENTIONS MEET AT 2 P. M. TODAY

The county democratic convention will assemble at 2 o'clock this afternoon at the city hall in Waco, the chief business being the selection of delegates to attend the state convention in San Antonio May 23. The convention will be called to order by chairman H. E. Brown of Crawford.

At the same hour the county republican convention will be held in the justice court room, first floor of the court house. The republicans will also select delegates to attend their state convention.

It is expected that politics will begin to warm up after the holding of the state conventions.

ROBINSON'S DELEGATES.

At the precinct democratic convention held in Robinson Saturday night the following were elected to go as delegates to the county convention in Waco Tuesday, May 9: W. E. Stovall, J. W. Lennox and J. L. Harding. It was announced yesterday.

WATER WORKS MEET IS WELL ATTENDED

SOUTHWESTERN CONVENTION
AFTER NEXT YEAR WILL
ROTATE AMONG STATES.

MANY PLEASURE FEATURES

Many Practical Talks Today With a
Banquet and Dance Tonight
at the Raleigh.

WHAT THE DELEGATES DID.

Took Mayor Dollins' big key to the city with profuse thanks. Passed an amendment to constitution that convention state should rotate among states alphabetically.

Hear R. H. Rogers tell of Waco's progress in the waterworks line. Listened to a talk on the evolution of brass in connection with water equipment.

Enjoyed on open air festival at the new filtration plant.

Attended to annual routine business.

The passage of a resolution which states that annual conventions of the Southwestern Waterworks men will be held in rotation in the seven states represented in the convention followed a discussion yesterday afternoon at the annual convention which opened here yesterday morning.

More than one hundred delegates are in attendance and various opinions were expressed in regard to the best methods of determining where the annual conventions will be held.

An amendment to the resolution which unanimously carried states that the sense of the resolution shall not take effect until April 17, 1917, which will necessitate the convention here naming the next convention state as well as city.

The resolution states that the conventions will select the states alphabetically, which will mean the following schedule will be carried out: 1918, Arkansas; 1919, Kansas; 1920, Louisiana; 1921, Missouri; 1922, New Mexico; 1923, Oklahoma; and 1924, Texas. Convention delegates will determine what cities will be chosen in the various states.

It is expected that Fort Worth and Kansas City will be two of the leaders that will endeavor to land the next convention. Joe Hines, representing the Chamber of Commerce of Fort Worth, made a strong appeal for the city, and was enthusiastically received by the delegates. Kansas City boosters have intimated their intention of working hard to secure the next convention.

Today's program opens at 9:30 o'clock at the Hotel Raleigh, in the ball room. Visiting ladies will be given an automobile ride over the city at this hour, and at 2:30 o'clock will inspect local department stores, special arrangements having been arranged for their benefit.

ROUTINE BUSINESS IN AFTERNOON SESSION.

Regular routine was taken up at the afternoon session, which started at 2 o'clock. President Jesse Shaw appointed Joe Gerrity of Muskogee, Okla., sergeant-at-arms, and he introduced the delegates who were present at the morning session. Joe Hines, representing the Fort Worth Chamber of Commerce, was introduced, and made a brief talk in which he assured the convention that Fort Worth welcomed the waterworks men and would be glad to get the next convention. He said that Fort Worth tried for the 1916 convention and lost but they made a splendid selection in going to Waco. If the convention decides to meet in rotation with the various states, as was presented in a resolution at the morning session, he said that Fort Worth would patiently wait for the convention to come back to Texas, where the waterworks men were born, and would feel honored at having the waterworks men as their guests. He favored the democratic spirit of having the convention meet in the other states, but said if this did not carry, then Fort Worth extends an invitation for the 1917 meeting. At the end of his talk, President Shaw thanked him for his invitation to the convention.

REPORT OF WACO'S PROGRESS IS READ.

R. H. Rogers, representing the Waco water commission, read a detailed report of the progress made by the Waco waterworks in the last few years. The report told of the steps that led up to the organizing of the water commission and the building of the splendid filtration plant on the Riverside Drive. That the installing of water meters had proved a boon in the reduction of the water consumption in Waco, was stated in the report.

As a token of appreciation for the services rendered to the convention by President Shaw, Charles H. Ade, representing the supply men, presented him with a beautiful bouquet of flowers. President Shaw made a brief talk, thanking the supply men for their remembrance.

Joseph A. Gerrity of Muskogee, Okla., of the Glauber Brass company of Cleveland, Ohio, gave a talk on the selection of brass goods in which was brought out the evolution of brass in the last few years. A discussion of this subject followed.

An amendment to the resolution in regard to holding the conventions in the states in rotation was adopted. The amendment states that the resolution shall not take effect until April 17, 1917. The resolution also passed and will mean that starting next year the convention will move alphabetically around the states of the organization. As the resolution does not take effect until April 17, the next convention will have to be selected before the convention closes here.

Telegrams were read from H. L. McDuff of Glorieta, Ariz.; J. W. Bennett of Oklahoma City and H. M. Lofton of Chattanooga, Tenn., expressing their regret at being unable to attend the convention.

DELEGATES ARE PROGRAM OF ENTERTAINMENT.

At the close of the business session the delegates were taken in automobiles to view the city parks and inspect the filtration plant. At the filtration plant a lunch was served and several musical numbers given. Visitors were guests of the Amicable Life Insurance company for a birdseye view of the city from the roof of the twenty-two-story structure.

Last night delegates and their friends enjoyed a plunge in the Natatorium pool as the evening's pleasure feature.

WELCOMES GIVEN AT MORNING SESSION.

With the exception of A. A. Haynes of Texarkana, fifth vice president of the association, all officers of the organization were present when the opening session was held yesterday morning in the gold room of the Hotel Raleigh.

Officers present were: Jesse Shaw of Topeka, Kan., president; vice presidents, L. H. Gray of St. Paul, Minn., and H. H. Gray of St. Paul, Minn.; J. D. Huddins of Roswell, N. M.; J. W. Lacy of Brookfield, Mo.; C. C. Clothier of Guthrie, Okla.; L. I. Kahn of Shreveport, E. L. Fulson of Waco, secretary and treasurer, and Rev. P. A. Heckman of Temple, Tex., chaplain.

Following the invocation which was pronounced by Rev. Father Heckman of Temple, President Shaw introduced Mayor John Dollins. In his address of welcome, Mayor Dollins discussed the importance of such a gathering and said Waco was glad and felt honored at having representatives of seven of the southern states gather here. He presented the convention with a large key, which he termed "the key to the doors of Waco."

President Shaw responded to the words of welcome and said that the Waco waterworks men were glad to welcome the delegates and that they were glad to receive it. In the absence of R. W. Finley of Austin, A. M. Burgess of Dallas responded to the welcome of the organization. He assured the delegates that the Waco delegation that the visitors from out of town could not feel strangers in a city where they had received such a warm welcome and where such a feeling of generous hospitality existed.

A five-minute recess was called in order that all delegates could meet each other. Miss Minnie Hutton of Dallas introduced the official stenographer for the convention, to assist Secretary Fulson. Mr. Fulson then called the role of officers and was followed by the president's address by Mr. Shaw.

PRESIDENT SHAW PAYS TRIBUTE TO LATE S. J. QUAY.

In impressive language Mr. Shaw paid tribute to the memory of Samuel J. Quay of Waco and A. A. Haynes of Texarkana, members of the organization whose death has occurred since the last convention of the waterworks men. He recommended that resolutions of sympathy be drawn up during the convention and that the minutes of the meeting, in honor of the men who had been prominently connected with waterworks departments of their respective cities for a number of years.

Mr. Shaw extended the supply men by Mr. Shaw for their valuable assistance in the past conventions and urged that all members of the association together with the supply men be considered as one body. The results that can possibly be obtained from the present convention.

Rev. Father Heckman of Temple recommended that a memorial committee be appointed to draw up the resolutions of sincere regret of the death of Mr. Quay and Mr. Haynes. President Shaw said the committee would be appointed later on in the convention.

L. Fulson of the Waco waterworks, secretary of the organization, read the report of finances which showed that the receipts were $1,016.75, and disbursements $1,016.75. He said there were 153 members of the association in good standing.

REPORTS OF THE CONSTITUTION AND BY-LAWS COMMITTEE WERE ADOPTED.

This was followed by a discussion of the resolution in regard to the method of naming the convention cities. It was the opinion of some of the delegates that because the organization had started in Texas and had been held here almost every time, other states had not taken the proper interest in it as they really did not know what a big organization it was. It is believed that the resolution will solve the question of how to decide on the convention states.

BANQUET AT RALEIGH FEATURES TODAY'S PROGRAM.

Today's program for the convention follows: 9:30 a. m.—The Functions of a Water Company or City Water Department. Jesse Shaw, superintendent Water company, Topeka, Kan.

New Road Log Will Be Printed Soon

The new log of the Meridian road from Waco to Galveston, recently made by L. C. Colp and others from San Antonio and other points, will be printed, it is understood, within another week.

Great care has been taken in making up the log through Marlin, Bryan and Houston and Galveston, this forming the last link in the chain of the great highway across the country from the far northwest to the Gulf of Mexico, another link of the line having been made by the line through Temple, Austin and on to San Antonio and Laredo.

This log will be in demand by travelers in autos especially, and will give full information concerning the route, character of road traversed, etc., it is declared.

PLUMBING.

AS IT SHOULD BE DONE is the kind of Plumbing we do. Best of bath tubs, latest devices in water closets, sinks and everything you can think of in the plumbing line. E. J. VANCE & CO., 702 Austin Avenue.

MISSIONS ARE HOPE OF MEXICAN PEOPLE

SPEAKER AT FIRST SESSION OF
TEXAS CHRISTIAN MISSIONARY
CONVENTION MAKES PLEA.

PRESIDENT MASON SPEAKS

Initial Session Well Attended—Bible
School and Women's Work Feature Today's Program.

Bringing a message from Mexico, picturing the country in a state of devastation with its ignorant inhabitants eager for enlightenment, Miss Elma Irelan, missionary to Mexico, gave an address last night at the opening session of the Texas Christian Missionary convention. Rev. R. D. Rogers introduced the president of the association, Harry Mason of Vernon, who delivered the president's address before the large audience, many of which are from out of the city.

Sessions for the convention will be held in the Central Christian church which was remodeled only a few months ago. The church has made extensive plans for receiving the delegates and the interior of the building has many scripture verses appropriate to the occasion, on the walls. Prayer and praise service was led by J. C. Welch of Bryan and S. W. Hutton of Fort Worth led the music. Mr. Hutton will be the music leader during the entire convention.

BANQUET FOR WOMAN'S MISSION BOARD TOMORROW.

Announcement was made that a banquet to the Christian Women's Board of Missions would be held tomorrow afternoon at 5:30 at the Huaco club. Those intending to attend the banquet were urged to purchase their tickets soon after this afternoon. The members of the C. W. B. M. will meet at the church at 5 o'clock and go to the Huaco club in special cars. There will probably be an automobile ride given the visitors either this afternoon or tomorrow afternoon through the courtesy of the local Young Men's Business League. Rev. F. N. Calvin, pastor of the church, announced that more definite arrangements be made later on.

In her address Miss Irelan pictured Mexico as a country with its treasures depleted, buildings ruined, fields unploughed, roads unkept and the people in distress. She said that in some sections of the country the poor suffered almost indescribable ills because of the conditions resulting from the wars. Members of the working class of people received small wages and that they were often handicapped by dependent relatives of friends, she said. Following the cloud of war, was the cloud of financial ruin, the cloud of disease but worse than all, the cloud of ignorance.

ONLY MISSIONARIES REALLY HELPING MEXICANS.

No adequate preparations for the education of the present generations were being made, Miss Irelan said. Only the missionaries are lending the helping hand that is really counting. She said that there was a great field to cover and that the people should not misjudge the Mexican because of the recent border troubles and internal strife in Mexico. She said that there was a higher type of the Mexicans and that ignorance was largely due to the conditions existing there now. Statistics were given by Miss Irelan that showed that only a small portion of the citizens of many of the cities in Mexico were able to read or write. The forces to educate the population were limited she said, and appealed to the audience to help extend the missionary work and uplift Mexico.

PRESIDENT MASON SAYS IS AGE OF OPPORTUNITY.

America is facing an age of opportunity, the time is at hand to prepare, stated Mr. Mason when he delivered the president's address. He said that at the end of the European struggle America would find hundreds of immigrants coming over and that the time to get ready to receive them is now. "America's Task Our Task," was Mr. Mason's address. He said that America was standing upon the threshold of a great era. "We are living in a new and exceptional age," he said, "an age of American opportunity to set an example to the nations of the world in piety and Christian living. In this period of turmoil and strife when the faith of whole nations are being shaken, is our time to lead out in Christian faith by devotion and loyalty to Christ. The world is in a receptive mood to receive the word of God. The Prince of Peace is standing with outstretched hands to a sad and weary world saying, 'Come, I will give you rest.'"

In his closing remarks he spoke of Christ's everening call to men. He pictured the Savior as the greatest of men in the pages of history, a man who in three years gave to the world a new law and a new religion, and the only man in the history of the world who has never been perfect.

This morning's session will begin at 8:30 o'clock with a quiet hour service which will be led by V. W. Wallace

The Woman's Auxiliary also meets in Houston at the same time, and among those attending this gathering from Waco will be Miss Minnie Taylor and Mrs. A. J. Dorsett. Gay Taylor also attends the council meeting from Waco.

Grandmother's Medicines

Our grandmothers were wise in the virtues of the herbs of the field. They used to gather and store roots and herbs and use them to cure the ailments of their families—wormwood, thoroughwort, sage, rue, camomile—the list might go on and on of the healing plants with which they made us familiar.

Now their grand-daughters get the extracts from just such good old roots and herbs, from the nearest druggist, ready prepared for use. One such medicine, which women find best for their own ailments, is the well-known Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.
